

GOVERNOR HARDMAN RENOMINATED BY GREAT VOTE; GEORGE H. CARSWELL AND EUGENE TAIMADGE WIN

Steele Defeats Upshaw in Congress Race

WINNER CARRIES FOUR COUNTIES WITH 16 VOTES

Fulton, DeKalb, Rockdale and Campbell Go for Steele While Douglas Is Won by Upshaw.

BIG POPULAR VOTE FOR CONGRESSMAN

Upshaw Based His Candidacy on Opposition to Governor Smith, While Steele Supported Ticket.

BY WILLIAM O. KEY.
Supporting the candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith for the presidency, Congressman Leslie J. Steele, of Decatur, Wednesday was overwhelmingly renominated for congress from the fifth Georgia district over William D. Upshaw, anti-Smith candidate.

Upshaw carried only one county—Douglas, where formerly he resided—and that by a scant majority of 128 votes. In Rockdale, Campbell, Fulton and DeKalb Mr. Steele won a great majority.

This gave Upshaw only two of the district's 18 county-unit votes.

Test of Hoover Strength.
The result of the ballot in the fifth district is regarded by political observers as of particular significance, presaging a Smith victory in Georgia in November. Both candidates made their attitude on the question of the national democratic ticket clear—Steele coming out solidly for the candidacy of the New York governor and basing his own on the support of Smith and Robinson; while Upshaw announced himself just as vehemently opposed to Smith and likewise took his political chances on an anti-Smith platform.

In Campbell county the vote against Upshaw was almost 2 to 1, nine precincts out of the county's ten giving Steele 637 to Upshaw's 302. The tenth precinct is an isolated hamlet of the county and political observers declared that they did not expect this box to poll more than 20 votes.

In Douglas county—which for a time was the home of Upshaw—he was given a vote of 665 to Steele's 537.

Fulton county's voters showed their preference for the incumbent congressman, returning him to Washington with a deluge of 7,806 ballots as compared with 5,806 cast for Upshaw. This ballot represented the count in 40 precincts in Fulton county.

DeKalb county likewise returned its resident congressman to office, the majority being well over 5,000, according to reports early this morning. The latest definite reports were when 13 out of 21 precincts in DeKalb gave Steele 2,185 and Upshaw 1,145. If this ratio was maintained by the eight other precincts the complete vote probably would be in the neighborhood of 10,000 for Steele against 1,750 for Upshaw.

Rockdale county, with three precincts reporting out of five, gave Steele a majority of 100, as compiled by the three reporting polls, was: Steele 282; Upshaw 152. It was reported that the other precincts would not affect the status of the vote in that county.

Steele gratified.
Mr. Steele said he was extremely happy at the outcome.

"The result is what I had expected," said Mr. Steele, "I certainly appreciate the vote that was given me and am especially pleased at the endorsement of my record during my first term in congress which this renomination means."

"It is, too, a source of deep satisfaction to know that this district is true to the democratic party and its ideals. The main issue in my race was support of the party and its national nominees, inasmuch as my opponent is chiefly known for his bitter opposition to Governor Al Smith, democratic nominee for president. I always have been confident that my district will rally to the support of the true to the highest ideals of democracy and not be misled next November. But this primary vote is satisfying reassurance on this point."

Upshaw Silent on Plans.
In a statement made early this morning, shortly after he had learned of his defeat by Congressman Steele, W. D. Upshaw said he was defeated because his campaign was handicapped by the district democratic committee's failure to notify him soon enough that he would be allowed to run. He also stated that he doubtless lost many votes because thousands of persons stayed away from polls through fear that their participation in the democratic primary would bind them to vote in

Boykin To Request Los Angeles Police To Hold Mrs. Pope

Questioning of Woman in Connection With Carnes Case Sought by Solicitor as Latest Move.

IDA R. OPDYKE FUND OF $250,000 INTACT

Immediate detention of Mrs. Louise Pope by District Attorney Asa Keyes, of Los Angeles, for questioning in the Carnes case will be sought today by Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, attaches of the solicitor-general's office revealed Wednesday.

This startling move of the Fulton county prosecutor's office to go into every phase of Carnes' tangled affairs came as officials of the mission board announced that a fund of $250,000 left to the Southern Baptist convention by Ida R. Opdyke, of Jamestown, N. Y., was intact and that part which had been paid to the board is being held intact by the executive committee of the convention, and only the interest turned over to the mission board. Dr. Arthur J. Barton, office secretary of the board, said that $112,000 of the legacy had been received, the balance being held up by litigation. Dr. Barton added that the executive committee of the church had decided to keep the legacy intact until all litigation was closed.

At the same time the solicitor-general's office was preparing for a nationwide circular campaign to find the missing Clinton S. Carnes, former treasurer of the mission board, whose accounts are reported to be more than $1,000,000 in deficit.

Moving with lightning-like activity as soon as the Fulton county grand jury indicted Carnes on Tuesday, charging him with embezzlement of $250,000 from the general fund of the mission board, the solicitor-general's office hopes to have every police department in the country furnished with a photograph, description and Bertillon measurements of Carnes within the next few days and an intensive campaign for his apprehension and return to Atlanta under way.

The questioning of Mrs. Pope, "guardian of the door" of the Norrida, Norwegian beauty, who Carnes had financed in her attempts to get into motion pictures, added a new angle to the rapidly growing tangle which followed the disappearance of Carnes, a two-term ex-convict, who had won the confidence of many of Atlanta's leading businessmen.

Mrs. Pope, formerly of Atlanta, in interviews with newspapermen is reported to have boasted of knowing more of the Carnes case than she cared to tell. Solicitor General Boykin is believed to have a new light on the affairs of the missing man.

It was through her confession that Carnes became interested in and financed the attempts of Miss Norrida and Miss Lois Griffin, his daughter, to get into the film business, though in her interviews with newspapermen she has denied any connection with the contract between Carnes and the Griffin girl.

Miss Griffin after reading statements from Mrs. Pope insisted Wednesday in Hollywood that it was through Mrs. Pope that Carnes financed her, though admitting that she had met the missing mission board treasurer prior to her contact with Mrs. Pope.

Learn of $250,000 Bequest.
Indications that the $250,000 bequest to the mission board was missing came Wednesday when the Jamestown (N. Y.) executors of Ida R. Opdyke, through Colonel Walter R. Brown, their Atlanta counsel, sought an accounting of the annuity which the Jamestown persons believe has been turned over to the mission board and it was not until late in the afternoon that it had been accounted for.

Colonel Brown, immediately after receiving instructions from the mission board to report on the situation and at the same time addressed a similar communication to Dr. Austin Crouch, secretary of the Southern Baptist convention at his offices in Nashville.

Colonel Brown announced that his instructions had come from Ernest Cawcroft, a Jamestown lawyer who suggested that he forward the original to me, keeping a copy in his own office, and that he secure the

SMITH NAILS LIE IN SLANDER WAR

Governor Runs Down Source of 'Drunk' Charge and Finds a Hasty Denial; Women Hold Peace

Albany, N. Y., September 12.—(AP) The following statement was issued by Governor Smith tonight:

BY ALFRED E. SMITH.
On September 5, 1928, Mr. W. A. Keenan, of the firm of Hays & Keenan, income tax specialists at Parkersburg, W. Va., wrote the following letter to democratic headquarters at Syracuse, N. Y.:

"Hays & Keenan, Income Tax Specialists, Parkersburg, W. Va.—Democratic Headquarters, Syracuse, N. Y.—Gentlemen: You are, of course, familiar with the underground 'whispering' campaign which the political enemies of Governor Smith are waging against him. You possibly noted that Senator Robinson referred to it in his Dallas speech a few days ago. This same program seems to be in effect in West Virginia. Coming from unknown sources one would be inclined to ignore such tactics, but it has come to my attention in the following manner:

"A lady of this city, formerly a resident of Syracuse, and very prominent socially here, has a letter from Mrs. Florence Sanford, who she advises is the wife of H. D. Sanford, of Syracuse, and who is reported to be prominent there. In this letter the lady sets out the statement that on the occasion of Governor Smith's visit to the state fair at Syracuse, he occupied a box next to the one occupied by Mrs. Sanford, and the story is that Governor Smith was disgustedly intoxicated, so much so that when he attempted to arise to make an address he had to be helped to his feet by two persons, one on each side.

"The contents of the letter were discussed at a social gathering and in possibility of the truth of such a statement was questioned. I am, therefore, taking the trouble to ask your organization to furnish me a statement from someone, preferably a member of some other political party than that of Governor Smith, to brand this as a political lie of the dirtiest sort. I wish this statement to show to the persons present when this woman made the contents of the letter known. As I am sorry to advise that if not corrected, Governor Smith will lose many votes he would otherwise receive. Wish to advise that West Virginia is a battle ground this year and every vote helps.

"Thanking you in advance for this information at once, I am very truly yours, (Signed) 'W. A. KEENAN.' Box 672, Parkersburg, W. Va."

Kelley Receives Letter.
The above letter reached 'Ir. William H. Kelley, president of the Merchants National Bank of Syracuse, who is democratic leader of that city, and in the late afternoon of the same day he called me on the telephone and acquainted me with the contents of the letter.

I suggested that he forward the original to me, keeping a copy in his own office, and that he secure the

BOYKIN, KEMPTON, STILL AND BROWN WIN COUNTY POSTS

Of 45,000 Citizens Registered, Only 13,500 Votes Were Cast To Decide Fulton Nominations.

John A. Boykin, for the past 12 years solicitor-general of Fulton county, Miss Bessie Kempton, Fulton county's only woman member of the Georgia assembly, Luther Still, veteran labor leader who asked a second term as one of the three members of the legislature, and Dr. George Brown, a former member of the same body, Wednesday were nominated for the posts they sought in the Fulton county primary. Only 13,500 votes were cast, according to tabulations made by The Constitution though 45,000 were qualified.

Governor L. G. Hardman received 7,697 votes against 5,733 for E. D. Rivers, his opponent, in Fulton county.

Leslie J. Steele, congressman from the fifth district, received the six unit votes from Fulton county, getting a total of 6,396, against 5,806 for former Congressman William D. Upshaw, whom he defeated two years ago. Mr. Upshaw was an avowed supporter of the republican national ticket.

For judge court of appeals—Robert R. Blackburn, 6,407; Roscoe Luke, 8,870.
Wins by Three to One.
Mr. Boykin defeated his opponent, Thomas E. "Big Tom" Scott, by a vote of three to one, the totals standing, respectively, 10,413 and 3,412. The majority was 7,001 votes.

Miss Kempton nosed out her opponent, Jesse B. Simmons, by a vote of 5,738 as against 6,117, getting a majority of 1,421.

Mr. Brown got 7,106 and his opponent, Ernest G. Bentley and W. C. Jenkins, received, respectively, 3,034 and 2,514.

Montgomery, winner of the third legislative position, carried 6,528; T. C. Marshall 5,730, and C. D. McKorkle 1,091.

Point and Peachtree.
Mr. Boykin carried all precincts reporting.
Mr. Marshall carried 11 precincts and lost two others by a total of three votes. He carried precincts fifth "C," eighth "A," ninth "A" and "P," Adamsville, Blackhall, Buckhead, Center Hill "B," Hapeville "A," East Point and Peachtree.

Simmons carried 13 out of the 41 precincts in the county. The precincts voting for him were second "B," third "B," fifth "A," tenth "B," South Bend, Adamsville, Bryants, Center Hill "A," Cook's College Park, Hapeville "A," Collins "A" and Oak Grove.

Mr. Still lost only three precincts in the entire county, losing Blackhall to Jenkins and Hapeville and Oak Grove to Bentley.

Boykin Thanks Supporters.
"The vote which the people of Fulton gave me in my race for renomination demonstrates the fact that citizens of Fulton county want a rigid law enforcement program," Mr. Boykin said. "I wish to thank them for their joyful support of my administration and promise to continue to protect their lives and property in the same efficient, courteous manner which has characterized my former service."

"I appreciate the continued honor which the electorate bestowed upon me for the fourth time in the primary," Miss Kempton said. "It has been my desire and purp to serve all interests and to protect citizens of the county in the Georgia assembly. I shall continue that service. My loyal friends are responsible for my victory and I want to extend my thanks to them all."

"My stand in the interest of those who cannot help themselves has been vindicated, I feel, by the overwhelming vote given me in the primary," Mr. Still declared. "I shall devote my earnest efforts towards a continuance of the policy which I adopted during my last term; namely, to aid those who need assistance. I want to

With Only Five Counties Missing Hardman Will Have 280 Unit Votes and Opponent 126.

McDonald, Knight, Davidson, Johns, Wright, Duggan and Clark Retain State House Places.

In sweeping and decisive fashion Governor L. G. Hardman was renominated by a vote that approached landslide proportions over his opponent, State Senator E. D. Rivers, of Lakeland, in the state democratic primary held Wednesday, according to unofficial returns received by The Constitution early this morning.

With returns and reports missing from four counties with a total of 10 county unit votes Governor Hardman carried 106 counties with a total unit vote of 280, while Senator Rivers carried 51 counties with 126 unit votes.

All "Ins" Are Victors.
Along with the governor all state house officers running for renomination were returned, apparently, with substantial majorities over their opponents. It turned out to be a great primary for the "ins" as not one candidate seeking to oust an incumbent won according to figures compiled late Wednesday night and early Thursday morning.

Eugene Taimadge defeated G. C. Adams for commissioner of agriculture. George H. Carswell won the race for reelection as secretary of state over Judge J. J. Flynn. Walter R. McDonald and Perry T. Knight were reelected as members of the public service commission over Felix Boswell and W. Trox Bankston respectively.

Judge Marcus W. Beck was reelected to the supreme court and Judge Roscoe Luke to the court of appeals. Judge R. E. Davidson and Judge G. H. Johns were reelected as members of the state prison commission. General William A. Wright, veteran of fifty years' service, was renominated by a huge majority, which it was apparent that Dr. M. L. Duggan was renominated over his opponent, Dr. N. H. Ballard, in the race for superintendent of schools. Captain John W. Clark was renominated state pension commissioner.

Definite returns from 46 counties, combined with scattered and incomplete returns from other counties, indicated the reelection of Eugene Taimadge as commissioner of agriculture over his opponent, G. C. Adams, of Covington. These returns gave Taimadge 94 county unit votes to 50 for Adams. Taimadge was leading in the

ROWLAND DECLARED AIR DERBY WINNER

Los Angeles, September 12.—(AP)—Official elapsed times of the winners of the class A New York-to-Los Angeles air race, as announced late tonight, gave first place to Earl Rowland, of Wichita, Kan., as indicated in unofficial standings.

Second place went to W. H. Emory, Jr., of Bradford, Pa., who piloted a Travelair plane. The total time for Rowland's Cessna A. was 25 hours, 14 minutes and six seconds. He won $5,000 first prize money. Emory's time was 14 minutes 23 seconds more than Rowland's, and his prize money was $2,500.

Other prize winners were: Third—Robert Duke, Pittsburgh, Pa., American Moth, 26 hours 6 minutes 7 seconds.

Fourth—Theodore W. Kenyon, Boston, challenger, 26 hours 29 minutes 56 seconds.

Fifth—James S. Charles, Richmond, Va., Eagle Rock, 29 hours 42 minutes 40 seconds.

Sixth—Warren B. Smith, Ford, N. J., Swallow, 29 hours 52 minutes 35 seconds.

The times are subject to a protest signed by sixteen contestants because of time claimed lost at Kansas City. This would effect the time of two of the first six place winners if granted.

$20 Topcoats for $10.85

They are all wool and NEW California weight. This new cloth has warmth without weight and the new Rayon silk, invisible stripes make the new patterns "simply wonderful."

I laid down the "dead men's pictures" in New York, for 400 of these coats, which makes it possible to pass them on to you for $10.85 instead of $20.00.

Every schoolboy knows that the merchant who buys and sells on credit cannot give you the "low-down," and in most cases can't get the newest patterns, 'cause they sell readily for cash. I ain't got no corner on this overcoat business. Your home town merchant, if he had the Jack, and the nerve and the outlet, could give you $20.00 overcoats for $40.85 too. But the old, slow and easy way is to buy and sell on credit, but I wouldn't be hooked-up with any old slow credit business.

I proved that I could sell a straw hat a minute in Atlanta so I'll do the same thing now in overcoats. No secret about it. Sellin' fifty overcoats a day at a dollar a throw profit is better than three overcoats a day at $10 apiece profit. Besides, putting things over in a big way is a tremendous satisfaction. My livin' made anyhow and what I'm talkin' about I've been clothin' folks for 36 years and I want to die sellin' suits and overcoats. You know, Old Man Carnegie died sawin' wood and everybody knows that a Scotchman would rather wear out than rust out.

RADIO-ING THE AIR WAVES

BY THE DIAL TWISLER.

The fifth annual radio world's fair will be officially opened on September 17 by Thomas A. Edison, speaking from the Crystal studio in Madison Square Garden where the national radio exposition will be held.

The ceremonies will be broadcast over a chain of stations probably between 7 and 8 o'clock, Atlanta time, so that the nation may listen to Mr. Edison's radio address, it was announced by G. Clayton Irwin, Jr., general manager of the radio world's fair.

Though it is true that Mr. Edison's voice has gone out over the ether on two previous occasions, Mr. Edison has never delivered a prepared radio talk as he intends to do at the opening of the radio world's fair. This was pointed out today by Arthur Walsh, general manager of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., who was present during the two former broadcasts.

The first time Mr. Edison spoke into a microphone, said Mr. Walsh, "was in August, 1927, when before a distinguished gathering on the lawn of his home in Little Neck, N. Y., he recited "Mary Had a Little Lamb," the identical words that were the first to be recited into the phonograph, 50 years previous.

"Later in the fall of the same year, on the occasion of a broadcast program, celebrating the anniversary of the invention of the incandescent lamp, Mr. Edison answered questions which were put to him.

The light operas presented by the Columbia Broadcasting system have proven so popular with the radio audience that the time devoted to this type of broadcast has been doubled, and at 7 o'clock tonight the United Light Opera company will give Gilbert and Sullivan's "Ruddigore" from 20 associated stations.

"Ruddigore" is well named for it deals satirically with crime and bloodshed. The plot tells of the baronet of Ruddigore, who, because of an ancestor's burning of a witch, were cursed with the necessity of committing a crime a day, or else dying in proof. If any of the baronets were tired of crime and vice and let a day pass without some terrible misdeed, his end was certain and rapid.

Robin Oakapple, the hero of "Ruddigore," disappears and pretends to be dead, thus attempting to foil the family curse. This allows his younger brother, Despard, to assume the title, and become the wicked baronet. Robin's identity, however, is disclosed by a foster brother . . . and he is again forced to assume the onerous obligations of his race. A solution is found, however, by the discovery that Sir Ruddigore Murgatroyd, the XXI baronet of Ruddigore, in refusing to commit his Arranged especially for lovers of classical music, "Melodies and Memories" features selections from the time of the old masters up to the present day.

Thursday's program, which is to be presented by a large string orchestra, is as follows:

"Sally in our Alley," Frank Bridge; prelude No. 8, from "The Well-Tempered Clavier," Bach; W. Kramer; "Rock Morrie," Grainger; concerto in A minor for orchestra, Viraldi; "Serenade for flute," Gabriel-Marie; "Confutentia," Sullivan Kelly; "Fugel-Me-Not," Herbert.

The Thirty Minute Men specialists in syncopeation, will be on the air tonight and may be heard through the Columbia system at 8:30 o'clock.

Assisting the Thirty Minute Men in this program are a male quartet and a contralto "blues" singer, the former to be heard in "My Ohio Home" and "Hurry Up, Bright Eyes" and the latter in "Querida," accompanied by the Thirty Minute Men.

The Thirty Minute Men will open the program with Irving Berlin's "Blue Skies" and is to play amongst other numbers, "Varsity Drag," "Oh, Baby," "Muddy Water" and "Limehouse Blues."

VISITORS THROG RADIO EXPOSITION

With Atlanta attendance greater than ever before, the fourth annual Southeastern Radio-electrical exposition at the auditorium is living up to its sectional reputation in auspicious fashion this week by bringing many notables from other states to the big exhibition.

Scores of lending merchants from cities in half a dozen adjacent states are taking advantage of the daily preview showings from noon to 2 o'clock, before the public begins to swarm the hall daily, and their interest is being manifested in wholesale orders that will represent many thousands of dollars.

Robert Kloeppel, owner-director of the palatial Hotel George Washington, Jacksonville, and a conspicuous magnate in his field, who stopped over in Atlanta especially to attend the show, is but one of many well known individuals in attendance. Mr. Kloeppel was the world's pioneer in giving radio reception to all his guests and he aided the recent installation through the great Statler hotel system. He lauded the Atlanta exposition highly.

Other well known names in the radio world who have come to see the south's greatest assemblage of displays are Al Treadway, director of station WBRB, Birmingham, and Jack Early, formerly of WWJ, Detroit and orchestra conductor at WNOX, Knoxville. Evans Joseph, radio editor of the Nashville Banner, and a leading spirit in Nashville's annual show, is expected Thursday.

The good music, the splendid stage program, the many substantial souvenirs, the television demonstrations and the always interesting array of tested new appliances all combine to keep the public coming in throngs that augur the most prosperous radio season the trade has ever enjoyed.

Exhibitors are unanimous in stating that the interest among visitors increases from day to day, that many spectators are making two or three trips to the auditorium to be sure of seeing everything and that family groups are greatly in the majority. The old type "fan" is conspicuous by his scarcity but the solid, universal appeal exerted by radio today as a valuable and essential part of every day life is plainly apparent on all sides.

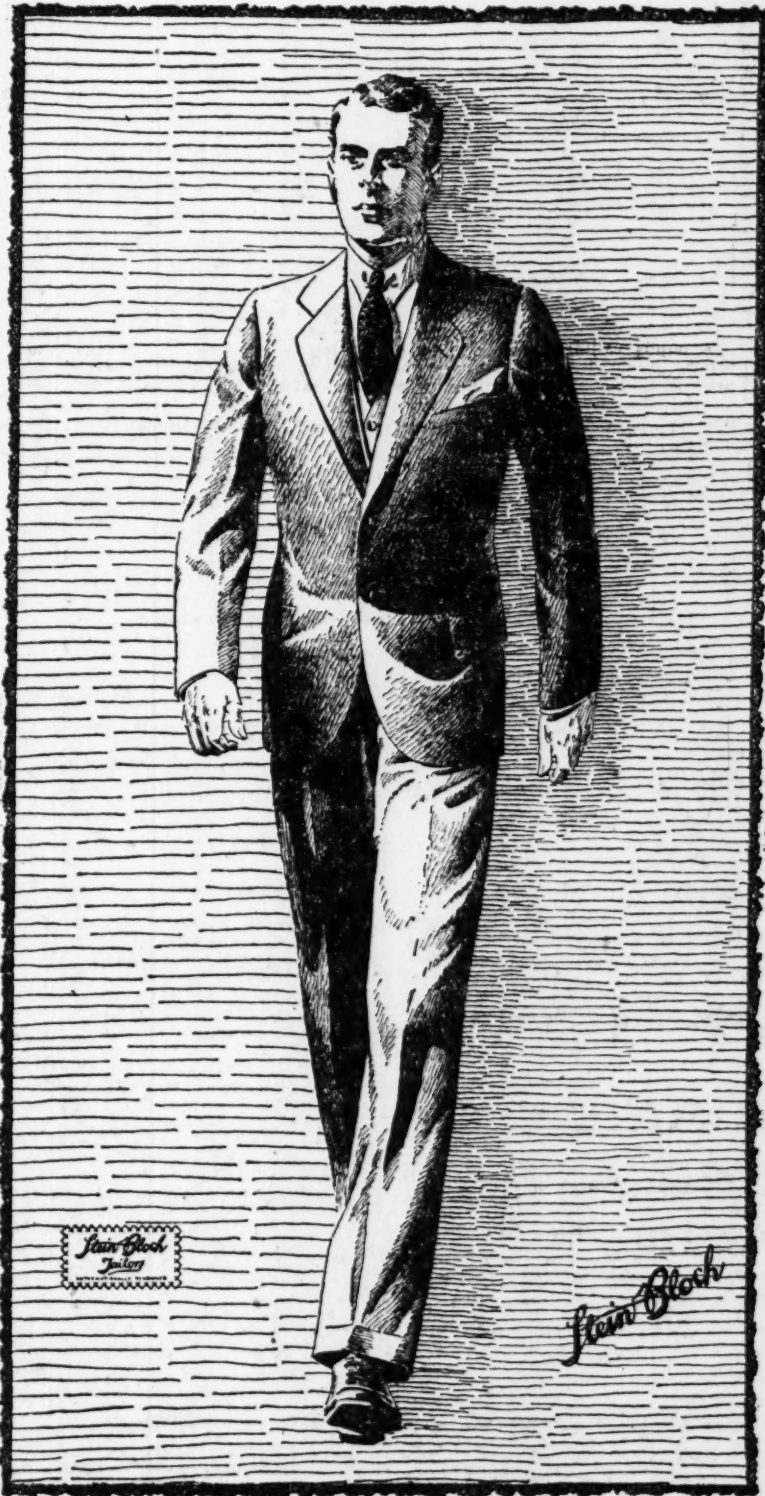

The radio-vaudeville bill of five varied and lively acts has something new to offer every night. Rudy Brown's orchestra; Paul and John, the disciples of harmony; Dan Hornsby's Lion Den brethren; Little Toots Dunbar and Louise Gaultier consistently draw salves of applause at each nightly performance.

The exposition will continue through the week with continuous showings daily from 2 to 10:30 o'clock.

Misrepresenting Accredited Schools, Sending Many to the Southern Business College

Fall Term Bringing Students From All Parts of the Country.

Enrolling for business courses is the order of the day around at the Southern Shorthand and Business University, because the fall term is opening up with indications of a record attendance, nearly 100 new pupils having already enrolled.

Make your plans as early as possible for the week beginning September 17th promises to be a very active one in point of enrollment.

The Accredited School. The Southern is the business school which was not afraid that it could not pass a rigid examination by a board of investigators composed of men of high literary attainments and wide business college knowledge and experience; hence, it applied to the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools for membership and was accepted and "Fully Accredited" by the association after the "Investigating Committee" had visited the school and made a thorough examination of the textbooks used in order to see that they were standard; had passed upon the advisability of the various courses of study to the most exacting demands of modern business; had seen that the Southern's large number of teachers (three times as many shorthand and bookkeeping teachers as are employed by any other business school in Atlanta) were not still pupils themselves, but well educated and able instructors of many years' experience; had examined the quarters and equipment of the school, and had seen that they met the requirements for the conduct of a large and progressive business training school.

Stamp of Approval. The Southern is very glad that the stamp of approval of a good school has been placed upon it by an accrediting institution of world-wide prominence, the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools, because it relieves, in a great measure, the prospective pupil of the anxiety occasioned when he particularly desires to get into the best business school available and does not know how to make such a selection.

Criticism of Competitors. Some business schools are criticizing the "accredited" business colleges, and the Southern can see no other reason for such condemnation than the fact that such schools' standards of practice are not high enough to admit them to membership in the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools. The Southern Business College has been accredited by this important association, and that its patronage is constantly increasing as a consequence, they actually "insure the public" against the accredited business schools.

Think Twice, Young People. Just think, young man, young woman, of such publicity on the part of a business school—that of advising young people to beware of schools that have been thoroughly examined by men of renowned ability as business educators, and found by them to possess high ideals, thorough and practical courses of study, an equipment without an equal in the Southern States, and a business and moral standing in Atlanta commensurate to the highest degree.

Fakers in Everything. To be sure there are two or three so-called "accredited" agencies which are looked upon as fakes. Their existence is doomed, however. In justice to the high grade and reputable schools, why did not the critics of the accredited schools designate the good from the bad? The reason is obvious: they are endeavoring to check the growing patronage of those genuinely meritorious business colleges that HAVE passed the Association's tests.

fact that Saturday is the last day for the payment of the third quarter installments of income taxes. Although he could not give out the figures, Mr. Rose said that the collections in his office as of March 15 and as of June 15 were much in excess of previous years. Mr. Rose said that he had no explanation to make of the increase except that the people of Georgia made more net incomes last year than they had made in previous years.

Mr. Rose said that he has had heavy mail all this week from taxpayers paying their third quarterly installments, which indicates that the people dition's thorough examination, and have been fully accredited. The National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools has for its membership about three hundred of the largest and best business colleges in America, including such well-known institutions as the Burdett College of Boston; Pierce School of Business, Philadelphia; Albany (N. Y.) Business University; Head College of California; Golden College of Wilmington, Del., and the like.

Many schools have applied for membership, but could not meet the association's requirements, the Standards of Practice being so high.

Credits made by the pupils of the Southern Business College are accepted by literary schools and colleges throughout the country. Three of the Southern's graduates have just secured appointments as teachers partly by reason of their credits from the Southern.

Don't be deceived by the claims of some schools that screen their weaknesses with high-priced tuition. There's a way to find out which is the BEST, if you want the BEST in anything, and that is to ask those who have tried it.

The Southern insists upon prospective pupils calling on a hundred or several hundred of Atlanta's prominent men, and asking to be directed to the leading business college in Atlanta, and, when this method of investigation is followed, Eighty out of every hundred refer the inquirers to the Southern Business College.

This fact is outstanding and is worth more, by far, to the prospective pupil in aiding him to select the RIGHT school, than any other argument that may be presented by any school man.

Then, again, the Southern's pupils get the best positions in the gift of the business world. A census taken disclosed the fact that there are more pupils from the Southern holding real and substantial positions in Atlanta than from all the other business schools of this city combined.

Now is the time to begin your business training. Call, phone or write for catalog.

Don't forget the important fact that the Southern has been accredited by the National Association of Accredited Commercial Schools. This advantage will give you prestige when making application for a position.

Millions now recognize the automobile as a necessity. It is no longer a luxury for the few. Sixty per cent of its use is for business.

Yet although the mileage of Concrete Roads and Streets has been steadily increasing, our highway system today lags far behind the automobile.

Such a condition not only seriously handicaps the progress of the automobile as a comfortable, profitable means of transportation, but also holds back commercial, industrial and agricultural advancement in practically every section of the country. It is costing taxpayers millions of dollars annually.

Highway building should be continued and enlarged upon.

Your highway authorities are ready to carry on their share of this great public work. But they must have your support. Tell them you are ready to invest in more and wider Concrete Highways now.

Divorce Wrecks War Romance Of Medico, Nurse

A romance of nine years, beginning on Armistice day, in Belgrade, and ending in the divorce court of Atlanta, was revealed Wednesday when the state supreme court denied a plea for new trial asked by Dr. Northern Orr Tribble, dental college professor, who was defendant in a successful suit instituted by his wife, Mrs. Marion Stevens Tribble.

The court decision grants Mrs. Tribble a final divorce decree, together with an Armitage day party given in Belgrade, and attended by Red Cross nurses, army officers and other war workers. The engagement of Miss Marion Stevens, Red Cross nurse, to Lieutenant Northern Orr Tribble, of the medical service, was announced at this party by a "Colonel Haynes."

Dr. Tribble first was attached to the United States Veterans' bureau when the couple moved to Atlanta, but later became a professor at the Atlanta Southern Dental college. Mrs. Tribble was appointed his assistant and they pooled their earnings to buy the "love nest" on Hammond street.

Apparently all was happy in the little home until a "fascinating widow" from Virginia appeared on the scene. Shortly after the court case, this Mrs. Voliva Clay Webb and, according to the papers in the case, Mrs. Tribble caught her husband and the widow kissing on the davenport in the Tribble home.

Mrs. Tribble, in her case, made accusations of misconduct against her husband and the widow, which were upheld in the supreme court decision.

Other cases affirmed by the supreme court on Wednesday included Roberts, Administrator, vs. Roberts, from Wilcox superior court; Pickle vs. Pickle, from Barrow superior court; and the Federal Land Bank of Columbia vs. Henson, administrator, from Gordon superior court. The case of Clark and others vs. Clark and others, from Richmond superior court, was reversed.

The Atlanta Hairdressers association has changed its name to the Georgia Hairdressers association. An aggressive campaign will be waged for membership.

3 FLORIDA YOUTHS, ALLEGED VICTIMS, TAKEN TO TAMPA

While joy and gin were their companions on a three-day ride "around Tampa bay," which ended recently in Atlanta, three Tampa youths, J. B. Carpenter, 20; J. A. Hendrix, 22, and Albert Cason, 20, were returned Wednesday in company of Deputy Sheriff T. D. McGee, of that city, to answer felony warrants.

The three youths, in company with Miss Leslie Miles, 10-year-old Tampa schoolgirl, were arrested here last week after having left Tampa three days previously on a "joy ride." Police were of the opinion that Miss Miles was the innocent victim of a kidnapping prank conceived by the boys while they were under the influence of liquor they confessed to having consumed.

Razing of Commercial High Passageway Costs Students 333 Hours 'Walking Time'

Four hundred students of Commercial High school Wednesday consumed a total of more than two weeks' time in walking from the main building to the annex, where a number of classes are held. Condemnation of the second and third-story extensions connecting the two structures made the "walk around" necessary.

Action of the administration department came after a survey of the connection had proved it to be unsafe. Raymond R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, stated, and students were forced to leave the main building through the Pryor street entrance, walk to Garnett street and enter the annex from that thoroughfare.

W. C. Lowe, principal, estimated that one-third of the more than 1,100 students were forced to make the change five times during the day to attend the different classes. It took about 10 minutes for each change. The time thus lost was estimated at 333 hours for the 400 students.

After the work of razing the connections has been completed the long wall, almost around the block will be eliminated, but even then the students will have to enter the building from the bottom floor, those on the third floor of one building being forced to descend the stairs to the first floor and then ascend to the top floor of the other structure. This will cause considerable confusion.

Lack of repair and maintenance funds for the system was blamed for the condition by Mr. Ritchie, who declared that the department has been apprehensive about the extension for the past several months, but has been unable to make necessary repairs because of limited repair money.

Tuesday an inspection of the structure disclosed the fact that it would be hazardous to use it further, and it was ordered razed. The work was begun Wednesday morning.

"Only 8 per cent of the revenue of the school department was set aside for the maintenance department of the system this year, and it has been curtailed for the past several years in order to meet the expense of instructional service," Mr. Ritchie said. "This is inadequate. Other systems have from 20 to 25 per cent of the revenue of the department for repairs, replacements and maintenance. The Atlanta school system must have additional funds for such work. We narrowly averted what we believe might have been a serious accident by discovering the condition of the connection."

"There is no money to replace the extension at this time, and unless some is provided it seems we will be unable to relieve the inconvenience students must suffer as a result of elimination of the passageway."

BUTLER PLEDGES HOOVER SUPPORT, G. O. P. HEAD SAYS

New York, September 12.—(AP)—H. Edmund Macphail, chairman of the New York state republican committee, tonight announced that Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, has pledged his support of Herbert Hoover and the entire republican ticket.

Macphail said Dr. Butler told him that although he would support Hoover because he believes the election of the republican ticket is best for the country, he would not retract his criticism of Hoover's position on prohibition and naval armament, which the Columbia president expressed recently in a letter to the New York Times.

G. O. P. ORGANIZATION MADE MORE COMPACT

Washington, September 12.—(AP)—More compact organization of the republican campaign in each state within the past month was reported today at national committee headquarters, with an announcement that the 3,071 counties of the 48 states had been asked by Chairman Work for complete details of every form of activity in behalf of the Hoover-Curtis ticket. The data to be submitted to the national chairman is intended to supplement advice received regularly from members of the national committee.

The perfecting of the state organizations, it was said at republican headquarters, has resulted in precinct, county and state leaders "functioning as a unit and in close harmony" with the national organization. The county chairmen had been asked to furnish state chairmen full accounts of all political maneuvers throughout their sections and the apparent result, the dominant issues in the vicinity, the number of active speakers, and any other information or comment pertinent to the local or national campaign. This data will be relayed to the office here, and plans announced today call for publication of all reports.

BOATRIGHT WINS G. O. P. NOMINATION FOR COLORADO GOVERNOR

Denver, Col., September 12.—(AP)—Attorney-General William L. Boatright won the republican nomination for governor in yesterday's primary election in Colorado and will oppose Governor W. H. Adams, democratic incumbent, in November.

Almost complete unofficial returns this afternoon indicated Boatright's majority over Clarence P. Dodge, of Colorado Springs, would be about 20,000. Adams was unopposed.

Attending physicians gave cause of death as natural causes.

It was learned from prison officials.

The body was identified, officials stated, by the numbers on the man's prison clothing.

SEN. CURTIS MAY GET PRIVATE CAR

Washington, September 12.—(AP)—After campaigning over the east in "catch-as-catch-can" style, Senator Curtis, the republican vice presidential nominee, has prospects of getting a private car for part of his western trip.

The republican national committee has hinted that the nominee, who has been carrying the brunt of the speaking campaign so far for his party, will have a private car from Chicago westward when he goes out late this week on this tour.

However, the Kansas senator has made no request for it. Although it is customary for presidential and vice presidential candidates to have private cars because of the heavy travel, day coaches and Pullmans have been his lot so far. Only once has he been in a drawing room, but he told friends that "This is the way I am used to going it."

Senator Curtis says he has enjoyed visiting with fellow passengers on his trips through the east. Many of the passengers recognize him but occasionally he visits with a person who seems to have no idea of his identity.

One passenger who had chatted with him for some time recently refused to believe it when informed that he was the republican vice presidential nominee and the senator joined in the joking by replying "They pull that out on me everywhere."

POLITICAL TRADITION SHATTERED IN VERMONT

Montpelier, Vt., September 12.—(AP)—Political tradition was shattered in Vermont at yesterday's primary. In winning renomination by the republicans Governor John E. Weeks became the first governor of the state to be nominated for a second term since biennial elections were adopted. He also broke the unwritten law that the governor should be chosen alternately from the east and west sides of the Green mountains.

Governor Weeks won a two to one victory over Mayor Edward H. Devitt, of Montpelier, who based his campaign on adherence to the political traditions. With twelve small towns missing out of 248 cities and towns in the state the vote was:

Weeks 24,171
Devitt 17,963.

There was no other contest on either ticket. The democratic nominee for governor is Harry C. Shurtleff. Senator Green was renominated by the republicans. His opponent will be Fred D. Martin.

MOSLEM SAINT OPPOSING KING, UNDER ARREST

Peshawar, Punjab, British India, September 12.—(AP)—The moslem saint, Hazrat Sahib, has been arrested in Afghanistan by order of King Amanullah after the latter's return from his European tour. It is reported that he especially opposed compulsory education for women and the abolition of a household from male members of the family or visitors.

Hazrat, who wields a great influence in Afghanistan, was a favorite of Amanullah's predecessor. A number of his followers were also arrested, according to the dispatches which state that they were escorted by troops to Kabul, the capital.

SENATOR CUTTING IS RENOMINATED IN NEW MEXICO

Albuquerque, N. Mex., September 12.—(AP)—Senator Bronson M. Cutting received the long-term nomination for the United States senate by acclamation at the New Mexico republican convention here today.

Senator Cutting was appointed by Governor Dillon six months ago to fill the vacancy created by the death of Senator A. A. Jones. His nomination was for the regular six-year term.

Former Governor O. A. Larrazola was unopposed for the short term nomination, but he told the convention he would accept only if the nomination for state offices were divided equally between candidates of Spanish and non-Spanish origin. Larrazola endorsed Senator Cutting for the long term.

Refused recognition by the democratic state convention, El Club Político Independiente, sponsoring the candidacy of persons of Spanish blood, accepted an invitation of the republican convention to unite with it. The club had met here today in its own convention.

GRANDDAUGHTER OF MARK HANNA LEARNS POLITICS

Chicago, September 12.—(AP)—Katharine McCormick, granddaughter of Mark Hanna, "the president maker," has begun her schooling in politics. She is serving her apprenticeship with her mother, Mrs. Katharine McCormick, republican candidate for congress, who learned the fundamentals of politics from her father.

MAD DOG TIES UP STREET TRAFFIC IN BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, Ala., September 12.—(AP)—Downtown traffic was tied up for nearly half an hour late today when a mad dog, invading a busy corner, drove late sleepers into a panic. Two persons, a policeman and a woman, were bitten by the animal before nearly a dozen policemen succeeded in capturing it.

No matter how many things you have tried to rid yourself of pimples and blackheads or how expensive the treatments have been you are not doing yourself justice until you get a 25 cent box of Peterson's Ointment and give it a chance to free your skin from all blemishes and make it soft, velvety and good to look upon.

Mrs. Minnie Jones of Louisville writes: "Peterson's Ointment sure is fine for blackheads. My face was covered with them, but after using the ointment they are all gone." And in a letter about pimples, Miss Genevieve Linehan of Bradford, Mass., writes: "I had tried most every kind of ointment for pimples, but found none as good as Peterson's Ointment. I am on my first box and my face is nearly clear. I am very pleased with it." Druggists everywhere sell Peterson's Ointment. It clears the skin. 25 cents a box.—Ladra.

COAST GUARD BOAT FAILS TO LOCATE BURNING SHIP

Norfolk, Va., September 12.—(AP)—The coast guard cutter Modoc early this afternoon had not located the four-masted schooner Wellington, of New York, abandoned in a sinking condition and set afire off Diamond Shoals lightship Monday afternoon by her crew. The Modoc was dispatched yesterday from Wilmington, N. C., to search for the schooner and tow her to port if possible.

Meager details of the schooner's plight were received at coast guard headquarters yesterday in a message from the German steamer August Leonhardt, en route from Norfolk to Columbia, which reported that she had taken off the crew after they had set fire to their vessel to remove it from the path of navigation, where it was a serious menace.

The Wellington, which is of 878 tons net, left Hampton Roads the latter part of the week bound south with a coal cargo from Newport News. She is believed to have had a crew of eight or ten men.

ANOTHER CHICAGO GANGSTER IS SHOT IN RACKET WAR

Chicago, September 12.—(AP)—Possible reprisal for the slaying of Tony Lombardo, Chicago gangster, and a bodyguard on a downtown street last week, was seen by the police today when a man who said he was Joseph De Folco, staggered into a hospital probably fatally wounded and fell unconscious after gasping out the name, and a story that he had been shot by robbers in a holdup. He was rushed to the operating room in an effort to save his life.

MILLS ASSAILED AGAIN BY SMITH

Albany, N. Y., September 12.—(AP) Bent on getting everything shipshape before his departure Sunday night on his first campaign tour, Governor Smith put in a long lullaby at his desk today, one moment engaged with state business, the next tackling some phase of his presidential campaign.

In a statement which he dictated to a stenographer during his daily conference with newspapermen, Governor Smith again assailed Ogden L. Mills, undersecretary of the treasury and the republican gubernatorial nominee in New York two years ago. Commenting on Mills' latest attack on his management of the state's fiscal affairs, as carried in the morning papers, the presidential nominee declared:

Says Things Over Again. "Mr. Mills has said all over again the same things he said during the campaign in 1926. He said the state debt was not reduced. That statement is not so. He said that the increase in resources had not been applied to tax reduction. That is not so. The direct tax, as I said in my statement (of last Monday) was reduced by some $18,000,000."

During the day Governor Smith also made public a letter to Clarence A. Barnes, a republican candidate for attorney general in Massachusetts, who has assailed him on the grounds that he had failed to act against the Albany baseball pool. Accepting an invitation of the governor to come here and point out the pool's headquarters, Barnes had sent word that he would do so on September 19. Smith, however, said he would be out of town on that date and suggested that Barnes lay any evidence of law violations

BEITZEL'S COUNSEL SPLITS ON DEFENSE

Los Angeles, September 12.—(AP) Complications between two defense attorneys today left Russell St. Clair Beitzel, Philadelphia accused of the murder of his elopement companion, Miss Barbara Mauger, with but a single legal advisor.

The defense was split yesterday when George Stoddard asked the court for permission to withdraw from the case, leaving Vernon R. Hamilton in charge.

Baby clothes, a wedding ring and a woman who saw the couple drive away from their apartment on the day the girl was last seen alive were used by the prosecution in its efforts to shake Beitzel's "not guilty" plea. To these was added the testimony of Miss Mauger's father, who identified the body found in a canyon where the state contends the girl was murdered.

before the district attorney of Albany county.

Pursue Evidence. "He has promised me," the governor told Barnes, "that he would vigorously pursue before the grand jury every bit of evidence you are able to lay before him."

The conference which Governor Smith has arranged with democratic state leaders, as a preliminary to the state nominating convention in Rochester, October 1 and 2, is expected to take place here tomorrow evening. Mr. William Bray, new chairman of the party's state committee, will be here, along with a number of others, who will have charge of the democratic state campaign. It is planned to map out an intensive drive to put New York in the democratic column in November.

Woman Rebels At Love Extortion, Kills Blackmailer

Chicago, September 12.—(AP) A shabbily dressed woman who, at 30, is the mother and sole support of nine children and who expects another baby in two months, walked into a police station and quietly laid a pistol on the sergeant's desk.

"I just killed a man," she told him. "I shot him at his home while he slept. Lock me up."

The woman was Mrs. Ada Johnson, a widow, who appeared old beyond her 30 years, and her victim was Dominick Finn, 32, married and a former constable.

Mrs. Johnson, whose oldest child is 15, told the police that she sold liquor to support her family and that Finn found it out and extorted money from her in return for his silence. When she had no more money, she said, he forced her to submit to his attentions on a threat that he would have her arrested. "My twin boys, 8 months old, are his," she told the police, "and the baby to be born in two months is his. A baby was born to his wife Monday. Yesterday I asked him for money for my baby. He told me he would bring some, but never came, so I went to his home, climbed in a window and shot him while he slept." Her oldest son accompanied her to the police station. The eight other children were found at home asleep and were not informed of the shooting. Mrs. Johnson was held without bail on a charge of murder.

Musical Prodigy.

New York, September 12.—(AP) Advice from the Bronx tell of the discovery of a musical prodigy 6 years old. Gerald Glasser cannot read a note and has never had a lesson, yet he is credited with having played his own compositions on the piano for two years.

JUDGE, 78, STRIKES GOVERNOR LONG

Shreveport, La., September 12.—(AP) An enraged judge sought to beat up the governor of Louisiana at noon today, but the chief executive sidestepped and ducked and avoided the blows.

The jurist, J. F. Reynolds, believing his defeat for the democratic nomination for the state supreme court bench was due to the governor's aid to his opponent, got out of the street and swung at his head with first one fist and then the other.

Governor Long, who is 55 years old, against the judge's 78, got out of range and patted the judge on the back with an admonition to hold his temper. The governor then went up the street.

They met in front of the City Savings bank. Governor Long greeting the judge with a "good morning." At first Judge Reynolds started to shake hands, but recognizing his political foe, he turned his handshake into a fist blow. It breezed by the governor's cheek and not one of the judge's jabs and swings landed.

Afterward Governor Long explained that he would not meet the judge's attack because of the difference in their ages.

The judge struck at me and I just walked away," the governor said. "The judge is an old man and I wouldn't attempt to defend myself from anything he might do. After he struck at me I patted him on the shoulder and said, 'Judge, you had better hold your temper,' and then I walked away."

Judge Reynolds particularly was incensed over circulars sent out in the campaign picturing him in the role of receiving orders from an "oil trust" and a "power trust."

NAVAL ACCORD PACT FINDS OPPOSITION

Geneva, September 12.—(AP) The first official disclosure that the Franco-British naval accord has not been entirely accepted by other nations was made this evening by Lord Cushendun at a session of the disarmament committee of the League of Nations assembly.

Lord Cushendun, he said, "intimations have reached us that our compromise (the Franco-British naval accord) may prove distasteful to other parties concerned who have the same right as we to have their votes and their voices heard."

Lord Cushendun also entered his opposition to an immediate fixation of the date for the meeting of the preparatory disarmament commission. Just prior to these moves he had been sitting in the council, hurrying as soon as the council adjourned to the disarmament committee rooms. He arrived just in time to hear Joseph Paul Boncour, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the chamber of deputies of France, argue for fixing a date for the meeting for the preparatory commission for disarmament.

Lord Cushendun immediately intervened in an attempt to prove that it was much better to follow the American idea and allow the chairman of the commission the prerogative of convening the commission whenever he deemed the divergencies of views sufficiently overcome to justify votes of progress.

The discussion brought no decision and M. Boncour announced his intention to explain the views of the French delegation on disarmament later. Lord Cushendun, pointing to the lack of effect of successive adjournments of the commission, emphasized that one of the main Anglo-French difficulties has been over the principles of naval disarmament.

"We have both held our views tenaciously and honestly, but have tried to reconcile," he said. He failed to understand why France and Britain should be represented as making a secret treaty with sinister consequences and ulterior motives. In a session of the council today Quinones de Leon, of Spain, was appointed to act as official reporter on the Lithuanian-Polish dispute and was requested to submit a statement of his findings at the next session.

Suit Is Filed To Test Power Of Radio Body

Chicago, September 12.—(AP) A suit to test the power of the federal radio commission and its right to reduce broadcasting facilities was filed in United States district court today in behalf of station WCRW, Chicago, which was among more than three score stations whose power was ordered reduced by the commission recently.

Attorneys representing Clinton R. White, owner of the station, said a similar suit would be filed in behalf of station WJMC, of Chicago, and that a temporary injunction will be requested prohibiting the commission from enforcing its order. Besides members of the federal radio commission the suit named H. D. Hayes, federal radio supervisor for this district, and George E. Q. Johnson, United States district attorney, asking that Mr. Johnson be restrained from prosecuting Mr. White or any of his employees for violation of the criminal provisions of the 1927 radio act.

The complaint said the act is so drastic as to entail possible fines of $100,000 and imprisonment for 100 years if the station operated on a power in excess of that assigned to it for a period of one month, adding that such provisions intimidate operators of stations from asserting their legal rights.

The order reducing the station's power from 500 to 100 watts was described as "a ruthless, arbitrary and confiscatory ruling, attempting to deprive your owner of property of great value without due process of law."

The bill also charged that "there are large private interests engaged in broadcasting who have concentrated upon the development of what is known as 'chain broadcasting' through a relatively small number of high powered stations who are endeavoring to eliminate from competition as many broadcasting stations as by having their licenses cancelled or having them reduced into low powered stations."

KEEP CONVENTION STRAIGHT.

It is important that the county democratic executive committees, in naming delegates from among the friends and supporters of the candidate for governor who may have carried the unit of such respective counties, name only loyal supporters of the national democratic nominees as delegates to the state convention to be held in October.

Both candidates for governor openly and frankly avowed their support of the party's national nominees. Therefore the delegates to the state convention to be held in October should reflect their candidate's position in this respect.

At the convention in addition to ratifying the primary results a state democratic platform must be adopted, state electors must be chosen and a new state executive committee named.

All of this must occur before the national election, hence the importance of vigilance in seeing that the party mutineers in the state shall not find, by design, oversight or negligence, a foothold in the state convention of the party.

FACES IN AIR AND ON WIRES.

The developments in electrical science in the past few years have exceeded those in any other branch. The accomplishment of broadcast television is outstanding. At Schenectady Tuesday night radio fans not only heard the dialogue in a two-actor one-act drama, but saw the faces of the actors as they spoke focused on the receiving sets.

In Wednesday's Constitution was again demonstrated the progress made in telephotography.

The picture of Sonia Norida was taken Tuesday at Hollywood, Los Angeles, as she posed in that city before a photographer for The Constitution.

It was transmitted to The Constitution over the Associated Press wires, and appeared Wednesday morning as clear and distinct, as to every line—and without a blur—as if the photograph had been made in our own studios in Atlanta.

No newspaper in the United States has printed a telegraphed picture to greater advantage.

The progress in the practical sciences along all lines is one of the marvels of the age, but in that associated with electricity the progress has been most marked.

To illustrate further is the development of photograph service for business and other practical uses, where speed and accuracy of reproduction are necessary, regardless of the distance to be covered. It is as easy to send a photograph to Boston as to Griffin, and with little difference in time of transmission and delivery. The photograph is the outstanding feature of the new Post-Telegraph service, and the National City company, of New York, was quick to grasp its great value to the business world in this day of long distance communication, with speed a controlling essential.

AN ASTOUNDING SITUATION.

The director of recruiting of the United States civil service commission, Herbert E. Morgan, makes the following astounding statement in an article in the September Current History:

"In the eight years since the Volstead law became operative, 1,162 employees in the federal prohibition force have been removed for delinquency or misconduct. In 531 of the cases the character of the offense warranted prosecution in the courts."

The figures are official. Mr. Morgan is a republican and an appointee of the Coolidge administration. In no other branch of the government has there ever been such an alarming situation. In no other group of federal employees has there been a percentage of personal crookedness, and corrupt collusions, even approximating this.

It simply emphasizes the well-known fact, and one which Governor Smith made clear in his acceptance address, that the government's present prohibition enforcement system is not only a farce as to results obtained, but is permeated with corruption, and with criminal contacts with the great bootleg traffic which has the whole nation in its grip.

The bootleg "industry" is today the largest and most powerful in this country.

The members of that "industry" are to a large measure politically "dry."

Most of them are openly supporting the republican candidate for president because he promises an indefinite continuation of the present unthinkable conditions while some kind of a research bureau makes a study of the problem, to report, during future years, its findings.

On the contrary the democratic candidate promises as rigid enforcement as possible of a faulty law, and his best efforts toward a quick revision of the law so that the bootleg "industry" can be broken up, and temperance restored to this country.

It is difficult to understand how good and sincere prohibitionists, who are earnestly interested in national sobriety, fail to see that the democratic candidate's program is the more practical for the restoration of national temperance.

CHURCHMEN FOR SMITH.

All over the country leading churchmen, from among the clergymen and the laymen, are vigorously protesting the attempt of Bishop Cannon and others to force the Protestant denominations into the republican party.

From one of the conferences in Virginia such a protest was signed by 133 of the most prominent Methodist laymen of the state.

In Georgia recently Judge Samuel B. Adams, of Savannah, who has been for almost a half century one of the most prominent Methodist laymen in the south, has voiced the same protest.

Judge John S. Canfield, of Atlanta, and others foremost in the Protestant churches have not only protested, but are today active in the campaign for the election of the democratic nominee.

One of the concrete illustrations of the reaction from this purpose to arouse religious prejudice against Governor Smith appears in a statement just issued by Dr. Edward T. Devine, dean of the American University Graduate school of Washington. He is a pronounced prohibitionist, and a republican. In The New York Times he says:

"Educators find that Alfred E. Smith is interested in education; social workers that he is interested in the relief and prevention of poverty, in the humane care of the sick and disabled, in the rational treatment of criminals; business men that he is sympathetically interested in prosperity and sound business methods; and farmers will find that he is intelligently and fruitfully interested in practical measures for their relief."

"I lived in New York for thirty years. Hughes and Roosevelt have been governors of that state within that period. I have great admiration for both of them. Yet I have no hesitation in declaring, as many better judges have declared, that Alfred E. Smith is far and away the best governor we have had in the three decades."

He concludes his statement with a vigorous arraignment of the "disgraceful farce" of prohibition enforcement during the eight years of republican regime, and with the expressed conviction that Governor Smith, if elected president, will assure better enforcement, and bring about a more temperate and a more moral nation.

Do not be fooled about preachers and educators being for Hoover! Many are. Many use prohibition as a smoke screen to hide intolerance. But many of them are supporting the nominees of the democratic party.

This campaign is developing a nation of gymnasts between-flopping the party, dodging the issue and straddling the fence.

Higher education counts. An eastern college girl of seventeen years has attained the highest altitude of any woman in a plane.

Charley Curtis tells us that prohibition isn't the issue. You can't trust a republican. At any time he is liable to break out and talk sense.

Anyhow that defalcating Baptist treasurer was no shrinking carnation.

Probably this keyhole campaign was influenced by the keynote speeches.

Hollywood is one city where they don't have to urge voters to register.

Pola Negri suffered a hard fall. For some time people have been falling for her.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

The "Kraassins" Technique.

"What do ice-breakers do between one Noble and other?" asked a French aviator. The answer in so far as the famous Kraassins is concerned is that it has set out once more to look for Amundsen and Gilbaud, pounding its way through ice-floes, ten feet thick. The term "ice-breaker" may convey an impression that the vessel has some sharp fore-extension which cuts through the ice. The filling of the tank increases the weight of the sort. Graceful lines never overcome ice. The Kraassins and others have a stubby build, with a massive steel hull of armor thickness which batters the arctic floes under the drive of 10,000 horsepower engines. The only other, and the most preferable movement is that of sliding upon the ice itself and crushing it in by the sheer downward pressure of her weight. To obtain weight at will for this work, most ice-breakers are equipped with three great water tanks, forward, aft and center. The filling of the tanks increases the weight of the ship by several hundred tons in an hour, and the time has been rare when ice could withstand the pressure. The job of smashing over the tanks are emptied so that the vessel is once more free to move forward and dispose of more floes. Ice-breakers are capable of smashing ice anywhere from five to 30 feet thick.

"The Peace Of God."

The only true precedent in history for the Kellogg peace pact signing is to be found across the entire earth. In the hundred years ago, says a writer in the Sunday Times. At the end of the 10th century every geographical country on the continent of Europe was a small state representative of the state of the world in 1914. Every man's hand was raised against every other man to whom he did not stand in the relation of lord or vassal. Every man claimed the right of private warfare, and in this warfare, always, it was the poor and weak who were the chief sufferers. Towards the end of the 10th century the church in Aquitaine began to organize itself to make a move against the state of things which was making life unbearable. No doubt the chief impulse was the protection of the clergy, the churches and the property of the church, as also of the peasants and "autres pauvre" who were the spiritual and temporal lords of the land. In 989 a council at Chalon-sur-Saône anathematized against all who deserted the church, struck the clergy or robbed the peasants, and the church, in its desire to conceive the idea that it might be possible to forbid war altogether, began to organize itself to make a move against the state of things which was making life unbearable. THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S

Greatest and Most Fascinating Contest

A Musical Treasure From the Exquisite Stock of Phillips & Crew

NO GREATER happiness could come to the more musically-inclined readers of The Atlanta Constitution than this announcement relative to another of the magnificent prizes to be awarded by The Constitution in THE MOVIE TEST.

On top of the thrill caused by the first announcement that The Constitution would award three brand-new automobiles—a 1928 Hudson Super-Six Sedan, a 1928 Essex Sedan, and a 1928 Essex Coach, here indeed is news that will stir the soul of any music lover.

The George Steck Grand Piano, valued at $835, and illustrated on this page, was selected from the stock of Phillips & Crew, 181 Peachtree, N. E., Atlanta. This particular piano was picked with due consideration to the fact that the creating of a fine piano belongs in the realm of Art rather than that of ordinary manufacture—that a piano is a development of generations and that its reputation must have stood the test of time.

This wonderful instrument which will be awarded as one of many splendid prizes totaling thousands of dollars will measure up to the fullest expectations of every real lover of music.

This George Steck Piano, which can be won with a comparatively few moments of pleasureable effort in The Constitution's MOVIE TEST is one of only three great international pianos. It ranks with the Steinway and the Weber.

This George Steck Piano will undoubtedly be won and owned by someone who will devote no more than a few hours at most to its winning.

And the winner of this beautiful instrument will have obtained what is generally recognized as one of the most widely-approved pianos in the world. Indeed, there is so much to be said about this George Steck Grand that the Movietest Editor of The Constitution, by whom these words are written, must necessarily pause and recall again and re-treasure the superbly glorious moments spent in studying, testing, hearing and reveling in the delight of even the temporary companionship of this remarkable instrument.

It is not too much to say that even in the face of many details that must be brought out and explained about The Constitution's great contest that will start within the next few days, the Movietest Editor can not entirely break the spell of enchantment that seems to demand that he write on and on and on about this instrument.

Phillips & Crew, at 181 Peachtree, N. E., are displaying this wonderful award in The Constitution's great contest. The Movietest Editor can confer no greater favor upon those who truly appreciate music than to extend this invitation to visit this establishment and ask to see and play upon The George Steck Movietest Piano.

Many Other Marvelous Prizes Will Be Won in This Great Contest

The Movietest automobiles are on display and may be seen at Goldsmith-Becker, Inc., 230 Spring, N. W., Hudson-Essex distributors. AND THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS IN OTHER PRIZES WILL SHORTLY BE ANNOUNCED.

SPEAKERS' BUREAU PLANNED BY CLUB

Organization of a speakers' bureau on subjects relating to foreign countries and travel abroad was proposed Wednesday afternoon by Croom Partridge at the first full meeting of the Atlanta Foreign Trade club at the Ansley hotel. The club has decided to adopt the idea, and have the consuls of foreign countries here and members who have traveled overseas to get up ten or fifteen-minute addresses of this nature to be delivered at the club meetings and then to be offered to other civic and commercial organizations.

Dr. Attilio Bollati, new Italian consul to Atlanta, was the principal guest of honor at the meeting. He made a short address, to which James A. Holcomb, of the Constitution, and a former vice consul to Japan, responded. Sydney Kay, British consul, and dean of the Atlanta consulate corps, extended a welcome to Dr. Bollati on behalf of the other consuls, and spoke of the influence of Italian civilization on English civilization.

Dr. Bollati was introduced to the club by Guido Negri, president of Il Circolo Italiano. The meeting was attended by more than 50 persons, the largest attendance in the history of the club. Charles F. Hoke, president, presided.

Harry O. Mitchell, branch manager of the department of commerce, and secretary of the southeastern regional foreign trade conference, spoke on plans for the second conference on November 20-21, and said that the headquarters will be at the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

H. O. Williamson, chairman of the education committee, told of plans for a foreign language school which will be sponsored by the club this winter. Courses in French and Spanish will be offered. Lester F. Hoke, of the French Line, in the Healey building, has been appointed registrar.

Dr. George Raffalovich, secretary of the Rockefeller foundation in Italy, and a noted political economist, was a guest at the meeting. Dr. Raffalovich is in Atlanta writing a book on political economy.

Murray County Sentiment Turns To Eula, Doomed

Sentiment in Murray county is fast turning to the side of Mrs. Eula Thompson, first woman condemned to the electric chair in Georgia, according to reports at Fulton county tower, said to have emanated from W. M. Harris, a Murray county officer, who came to Atlanta to take into custody a negro prisoner.

Harris is said to have told several officials at the tower that neighbors of Mrs. Thompson in Murray county are working hard for commutation of her sentence and that a lengthy petition will be presented to the governor and prison commission when the woman's plea for life comes up.

September 21 has been set as the day for the woman's election by the court and it is not expected that the governor will take definite action on the commutation plea until then, or possibly the day preceding.

The plea for commutation will come before the prison commission at the regular session of that body next Wednesday, which is only two days before the day set for her death. Governor Hardman, as the final authority, then must pass upon their recommendations.

Murray county, according to reports at the tower, feels that the law has been sufficiently satisfied for the murder of Coleman Osborn, storekeeper, in the deaths of Cliff Thompson, husband of Mrs. Eula Thompson, and their alleged negro confederate, Jim Hugh Moss, and that a prison sentence would be sufficient in the case of the woman.

DISPLAY OF RARE ORIENTAL RUGS STAGED BY STORE

Atlantans interested in beautiful Oriental rugs and the intricate loom woven into them by natives of the east, this week are visiting the Davidson-Paxon company's rug department, which resembles a Constantinople bazaar more than a modern American department store.

The event of interest is a sale of $100,000 worth of Oriental rugs brought from the Far East and Orient by a Macy buyer who traveled across countless miles of the desert on camels' backs. Sometimes he was accompanied by an armed guard when going through hostile territory, often at the risk of his life, picking up a rug here and one there until he had enough to make a bale, then getting them to a shipping point where he could send them direct to Macy's in New York.

These rugs are Oriental in the full sense of the word, store officials state, and are not made in some back room by natives hired by the day or piece, but patiently woven by a people who have learned to express their love, hate, joy, fear, hope, plans and dreams in their weaving. When it is considered that nine by twenty inches of an Oriental rug contains about 20,000 knots and takes a person about two months to weave, it makes one appreciate somewhat the time and effort expended on even a small rug.

The vegetable dyes that grow richer and more beautiful with passing years are made by a secret process which is handed down from generation to generation. One rug was woven by a maid of Kurd for her lover and to protect him and keep off the evil spirits, she cut from her head a generous lock of hair and wove it around a pair of blue bead eyes. The woven strand of human hair can plainly be seen. In spite of all the weaver's hard work and effort to protect her lover, he must have suffered disaster, for the rug was sold and finally acquired by the Macy buyer.

The musical names of the rugs are intriguing. Of the modern Persian rugs, the best known are the Serook, Lelahan, Haradan, Arak, Mahal and Iran, named almost entirely from provinces in which they are made.

American Furniture And Carpet Company Holds Big Sale Friday

A selling event of household needs and kitchen furnishings that will prove of intense interest to housewives living both in and outside of Atlanta will be held Friday at the American Furniture and Carpet Co., Inc., at Pryor street and Auburn avenue.

The sale includes a car load of household specialties each priced at a level that will attract attention of thrifty housewives and the store management advises all to come and make their purchases in order to avoid the rush. Persons must be on hand to take advantage of the unusual buying opportunities which the sale presents.

GERTRUDE M'DARIS, GEORGIA'S "VENUS," RETURNS TO CITY

Miss Gertrude M'Daris, Georgia representative in the "Venus" contest staged last week in New York by the Barnard MacFadden publications, has returned to Atlanta in company with her escort, Mrs. John G. Courtney, member of the executive committee of better films.

Miss M'Daris said that the entrants in the contest were magnificently entertained by Mr. MacFadden at his estate in New Jersey. In a tennis match among the entrants, Miss M'Daris was named winner.

WOMAN'S CLUB CASES WILL BE HEARD OCT. 1

Three cases resulting from the dispute over presidency of the Atlanta Woman's club have been set for hearing before the state supreme court on Monday, October 1, it was revealed in a calendar given out Wednesday.

The three cases all revolve about the club election of several months ago, in which Mrs. Charles Goodman was named president. Another faction, headed by Mrs. John Hornady, protested the election and carried the fight to the courts. The superior court upheld the validity of Mrs. Goodman's election, making permanent a temporary injunction barring the opposing faction from interfering with her administration of club affairs.

The cases listed for hearing are those of Mrs. John R. Hornady, vs. Mrs. Charles Goodman; Mrs. Poundstone and others, vs. Mrs. Goodman; and Mrs. Goodman against Mrs. Poundstone, in a cross bill.

Mrs. Irving S. Thomas, three times president of the club and an active member of the faction that backs the cause of Mrs. Hornady, declared Wednesday that they would continue their contention that Mrs. Goodman was not elected by a majority and that the Hornady faction would be present in full force at all business meetings of the club. "It is our plan to attend every meeting in an orderly, dignified way," said Mrs. Thomas, "and in this way we can preserve the entity of the club until next spring when a new president will be elected."

REV. J. W. GUBBINS RESIGNS PASTORAGE

Announcement of the resignation of the Rev. J. W. Gubbins as rector of the Church of Our Saviour, Highland and Los Angeles avenues, to accept a call to the diocese of northern Indiana, was made Wednesday. It is announced that church services will continue as usual.

REPAIRS AT LAKEWOOD RUSHED TO CONCLUSION

With clear weather for the past few days, repair work on buildings at Lakewood park is progressing rapidly and within the next few days all of the structures will be reroofed and water-tight, according to Oscar Mills, secretary and manager. This necessary work is being done in preparation for the 1923 Southeastern Fair, which will open its gates to the public Saturday morning, September 23. Workmen were hampered in their work during the latter part of July and all of August due to rain and every effort is being made to complete the work before the opening of the fair. A large crew of workmen began work Monday and much progress has been made thus far this week, Mr. Mills stated.

The dog show quarters will be doubled within the next few days and will occupy its space of last year with the addition of the former poultry space.

The poultry department, which formerly occupied space in the cattle barn, will be moved to the dance hall on the upper midway, where additional space also will be provided for the big rabbit show, which will be held under the auspices of the Atlanta Rabbit and Cavy club.

Exhibits are slated to begin arriving at Lakewood Monday, September 24, five days before the opening, and entries in practically all departments will close Saturday, September 22, Mr. Mills stated.

ALEXANDER WINS LEGISLATIVE SEAT

Decatur, Ga., September 13.—(Special.)—Hooper Alexander, former federal district attorney, decisively defeated Paul Lindsey, incumbent, in the race for representative of DeKalb county in the legislature. He was indicated by incomplete returns early this morning.

Returns indicated also the victory of Robert H. Henslee, incumbent, over Carl Hudgins in the other house seat from DeKalb county.

Sheriff G. R. (Jake) Hall was re-elected over two opponents, W. H. Brasewell and O. L. White.

B. H. Burgess, clerk of superior court, was re-elected over James C. Davis.

Dond defeated Barnett for tax commissioner.

HARDMAN REELECTED AS CHIEF EXECUTIVE

popular vote by more than 8,000 votes.

For secretary of state, another race in which interest was shown, George H. Carswell apparently was re-elected over his opponent, Judge J. J. Flynt, of Griffin. The returns from 43 counties with scattered returns from other counties gave Carswell 80 county unit votes to 52 for Flynt.

M. L. Duggan, running for reelection as state superintendent of schools, was leading Dr. N. H. Ballard, of Decatur, in a close race by 14 county unit votes. Duggan, in 47 counties, had polled 70 unit votes to 62 for Ballard.

Wright Easy Winner

General William A. Wright, candidate for reelection as state comptroller, had 90 unit votes tucked away in his column while M. R. Ballard, of Atlanta, had not obtained any unit votes. General Wright was leading in the popular vote by about 3 to 1.

Two members of the public service commission, running for reelection apparently had little trouble in disposing of their rivals, according to the returns from 27 counties. Perry T. Knight had polled 50 county unit votes to 24 for his opponent, W. T. McDonald, of Covington. Walter R. McDonald, of Augusta, blind member of the commission, was leading Felix Boswell, of Green county by 100 votes to 6 unit votes for Boswell.

In the race for two places on the state prison commission, the two incumbents, R. E. Davidson, of Woodbury and G. H. Johns, of Windsor, were apparently re-elected over their opponents, Hill C. Tuck, of Mountain and A. H. Henslee, of Barnesville, respectively. Davidson polled 110 unit votes to 0 unit votes for Tuck. Johns polled 90 unit votes to 18 for Henslee.

Captain John W. Clark, of Augusta, was re-elected state pension commissioner over Judge J. J. Flynt, of Griffin, by 120 unit votes to 8 for his opponent based on incomplete returns.

One justice of the supreme court, Judge Marcus W. Beck and one justice of the court of appeals, Judge Joseph C. Beck, were re-elected over their opponents. Judge Beck had a unit vote of 124 to 2 while Judge Luke disposed of his rival to the tune of 90 to 16 based on incomplete returns.

Congressional Races

W. D. Upshaw was defeated by Congressman Leslie J. Steele by a fifth district.

Congressman W. C. Langford, of the eleventh district, was trailing his opponent, Dave M. Parker, of Waycross, in incomplete returns received from only five of twenty counties in the district.

Representative W. V. Larsen, in the twelfth district, led a lead over Neil L. Gillis, of Superior, by a small margin in the returns reported.

Larsen in five out of fifteen counties had a popular vote of 1,250, while Gillis had 1,098. Of these counties, Larsen led in three and Gillis in two counties.

Hardman Gratified

After the close of the election of his re-election Governor Hardman gave a statement to The Constitution expressing his "deepest gratification" over the victory.

"The overwhelming endorsement of my administration by the people of Georgia is a source of deepest gratification to me," he declared. "I am profoundly grateful to the thousands of friends in all sections of Georgia whose splendid support made this victory possible."

"The fight has been hard and in some sections, bitter. I harbor no ill will toward anyone who opposed me, and I shall endeavor in every way possible to fulfill the duties of the high office to which I have been re-elected thoroughly and impartially."

"It is my ardent hope that when the smoke of battle is cleared away the wounds suffered in the strife will soon be healed and that the people of Georgia will unite with me in an effort to make our administration splendidly serve the best interests of our great state."

Senator Rivers made no statement concerning the result of the primary with the exception of a brief expression of thanks to his supporters.

"I desire to thank the thousands of my friends over the state who have so valiantly continued their fight and efforts in order to make my campaign for governor possible," he said. "I shall never forget their loyalty and devotion."

Record Is Broken

For the first time in more than a quarter of a century in state primary with opposition was re-nominated. Several governors have been given second terms without opposition during that time. The incumbent was defeated, according to the records dating back for more than 25 years.

The race for governor was productive of several surprises. Governor Hardman, for instance, polled the bulk of his vote in the northern part of the state, but once in a while he would step down and take a county away from Rivers in south Georgia.

Then Rivers, whose strength was largely in south Georgia, would go up to the northern border of the state and acquire a county. He even tried Jackson county, the home county of Governor Hardman, according to early unofficial returns. Hardman was not as strong in Lanier county, home county of Senator Rivers, which stuck to the home man by a substantial vote.

No issues of vital importance developed in the campaign. Governor Hardman renewed his fight of two years ago against the state highway department during certain phases of the campaign and also charged Senator Rivers with heading a "bloke" in the state senate which prevented the governor from bringing about passage of legislation providing for reorganization of the highway department.

Senator Rivers denied "bloking" the governor and charged that the gov-

YEGGS GET $20,500 AT LAGRANGE P. O.

LaGrange, Ga., September 12.—(AP) Robbers obtained $20,500 in stamps and $500 in cash from the LaGrange postoffice last night, the second time the office has been looted this year. Twenty-five thousands dollars in stamps was stolen by safe crackers in the first robbery which occurred last February.

with torches. Tools of the robbers were left behind including crowbars, a large acetylene gas tank, a smaller tank and canvas used to hide the light from the torches. A cord ran from the safe to the money order window evidently to a confederate to be used as an alarm.

The robbers are believed to have hid in the office before the closing hour yesterday.

COLUMBIA SEMINARY OPENS SECOND YEAR

Columbia Theological seminary, on Oak street in Decatur, opened its second session since its removal from Columbia, S. C., at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning with formal exercises. This marks the beginning of the second century of the seminary's life, the centennial having been celebrated at the meeting of the Southern Presbyterian general assembly in Atlanta last May.

The exercises consisted of an address of welcome by the Rev. J. R. Williams, pastor of the East Point Presbyterian church and president of the Presbyterian Ministers' Association of Atlanta, together with addresses by J. F. Garrison, president of the student body, and the Rev. E. D. Kerr, of the faculty. A surprise feature of the program was the presentation by Charles E. Hunter, assistant secretary and treasurer of the Georgia Savings Bank & Trust company, of a check for $4,000, representing a bequest from the estate of Mrs. Sarah Davidson Morris Cathart.

The Rev. Hunter E. Blakely, who was elected professor of New Testament exegesis a year ago, was introduced to the student body by the Rev. Richard B. Gillespie, president of the seminary. Dr. Blakely has just returned from 16 months' study in Scotland, England and Germany and a trip through the Holy Land. Class work will begin this morning on the regular schedule. The Rev. J. A. Bryan, of Birmingham, will conduct a series of devotional services twice each day for the remainder of the week, terminating with the celebration of the communion of the Lord's supper at 11 o'clock Sunday morning in the seminary chapel. The enrollment for this session was reported as 64.

EFFICIENT THIEVES LOOT POSTOFFICE FOR $16,400 HAUL

Approximately $16,000 in stamps and $400 in currency formed the loot of burglars who broke into the vault and stamp safe of the postoffice at LaGrange Tuesday night with acetylene gas and explosives, according to a report to Joe P. Johnston, postoffice inspector in charge of the Atlanta division.

Tuesday night's robbery was almost identical with the robbery of the LaGrange postoffice on February 18, when $24,657.39 was stolen, of which about $500 was in cash, Mr. Johnston said. As in that robbery, an oxygen and acetylene tank was left in the office, as well as the canvas used as a screen.

After the robbery of February 18, a string was found leading from the vault door to a window in the postmaster's office, Mr. Johnston said. "It is evident a lookout was posted in the postmaster's office and the string was to signal the men at work on the safe. In the robbery last night a string was to a window in the money order division instead of the postmaster's office."

INCREASE PLANNED IN TRANS-ATLANTIC PHONE CIRCUITS

It is planned to provide additional trans-Atlantic telephone circuits to supplement the present voice channel and to care for the increasing popularity of the existing transatlantic service, according to information received in Atlanta Wednesday. During the first eight months of 1928 the number of calls completed over the present circuit between America and Europe represented an increase of 300 per cent over the same eight months of 1927. A tract of land comprising approximately 800 acres has been assembled by purchase and lease seven miles north of Trenton, N. J. Here it is planned to begin construction at an early date of short wave transmitting stations, which, together with receiving stations completed or planned by the American Telephone and Telegraph company at Netcong, N. J., and similar installations in Great Britain, will provide three additional circuits for trans-Atlantic calls. Sufficient property has been secured to provide for possible future expansions, including a circuit to South America. The entire tract is composed of level farm land lying in Hopewell and Lawrence townships, one mile northwest of Lawrenceville and five miles west of Princeton.

3 FLIERS RETURN FROM LONG TRIP IN BARREN LANDS

Winnipeg, September 12.—(AP) Three fliers in a super-universal Fokker monoplane at the western Canada airways have returned from a 4,000-mile exploration flight over the "barren lands" of northern Manitoba.

Nowhere over the territory they traversed, from Chesterfield inlet on Hudson bay to Baker lake, 1,500 miles to the north, did they see a sign of life, they said. The country is mostly lakes and the terrain barren rock and tangled vegetation.

FIVE minutes each night spent at your washbowl may mean all the difference between natural charm retained and an artificial-looking complexion that fools no one.

Two important beauty oils are essential for the proper cleansing of the skin. They are found scientifically blended in a famous beauty soap—Falmolive. It is a soap for good complexions only—for no other purpose. Skin specialists recommend its regular use.

Its rich, creamy lather gently penetrates the pores, frees them of the day's accumulation of soil and make-up. Leaves skin radiant and charming.

Each night wash your face gently with the luxurious lather of Falmolive. Massage the rich suds into the pores with your two hands, removing the make-up, the perspiration and grime. Then rinse, first with warm water, then with cold until your awakened skin tingles with the stimulation. Pat face dry with towel.

That is all. It's Nature's way. A touch of cold cream is good if inclined to dryness. But be sure you use Falmolive Soap—the genuine. At all stores, 10 cents a cake. Colgate-Falmolive-Peet Co., Chicago, Ill.

How to Have A Clear Head End Stuffiness, Sneezing, Inflammation

Do you get up in the morning with a stopped-up nose? Are your breathing passages clogged with a cold? Are you subject to catarrh, bronchial irritations, asthma or hay fever? Have you that mean, low-spirited feeling which comes from lack of proper oxygen? If so, here is a pleasant, harmless cigarette that will clear out the head, nose and throat.

These cigarettes are the formula of Dr. J. W. Blosser, and are composed of medicinal flowers, herbs and berries.

Dr. Blosser's cigarettes contain no tobacco, no cubes, nothing habit forming, and are entirely harmless. They are used by women and children as well as men.

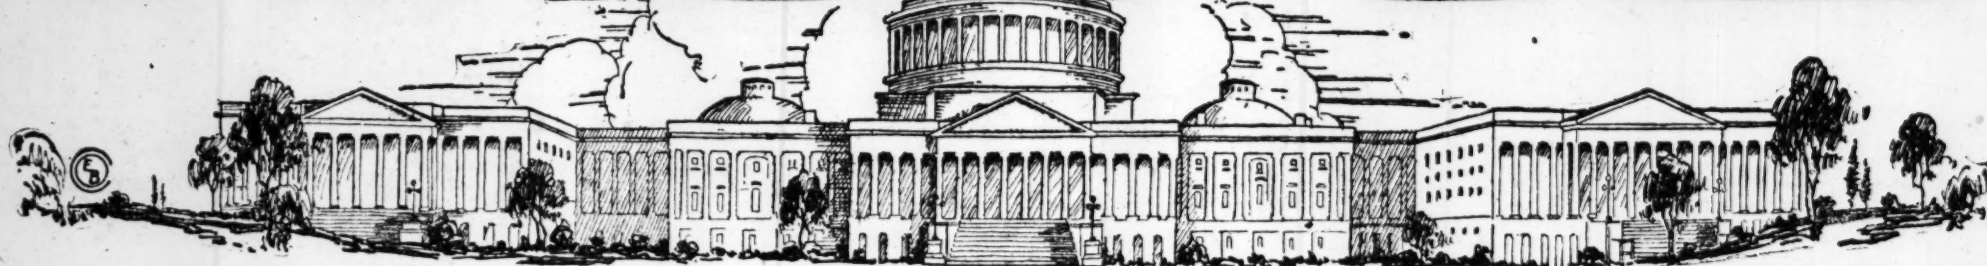

It is so simple to inhale this pleasant and soothing smoke.

Much more convenient than using sprays, washes, douches, etc. If you suffer from any catarrhal trouble, catarrhal deafness, asthma, hay fever, bronchial irritations or frequent colds, get from any druggist a convenient, pocket-size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes, and prove for yourself their pleasant beneficial effects.

Behind The Nation Stands The HOME

The Public Servants

Whom, by your ballots, you have placed at the helm of the great ship of state, are outstanding products of the HOME.

It is also to be remembered that no matter how worthy or how competent, their best efforts will prove futile without the moral support of the HOME.

Those who are to be the standard bearers of the next generation will need to possess that great strength of character which can only be moulded in the HOME.

There was an instance where three sons, who were born and reared in the mountains far from the sea, all became sailors, receiving their inspiration from a picture of an old sailing vessel that hung over the mantel in their HOME.

Good Furniture then, has much to do toward creating lifetime impressions; good furniture is like good books, whose influence may have a telling effect upon our lives long after we have gone out from our HOMES.

We specialize in the creation of Homes that reflect beauty, style, comfort and refinement.

Duffee-Freeman

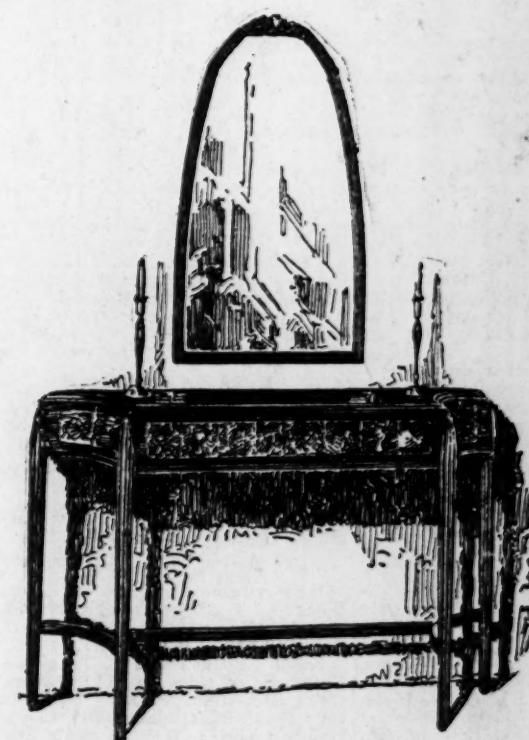

Corner Broad and Hunter

Few great men have failed to stress the importance of the HOME.

This Home-furnishing institution is not merely a merchandising establishment for material gain; through our contact with that vital institution called the HOME we strive to render a service that will count for much in the lives of the people we serve, both now and in the future.

Cast your ballot for BETTER HOMES by bringing your furnishing problems to Duffee-Freeman's where they will be correctly and economically solved.

DIET AND HEALTH

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

GOT AN OBSTINATE COUGH?

THEN HAVE AN X-RAY TAKEN.

Do you remember the case I reported of an old sea captain who had a cough which was found to be a reflex due to a grain of rice that had been lodged in his ear, 25 years or so, after the rice shower at his wedding party?

It reminded Mrs. J. of her experience. It happened to her 25 years ago, before dental anesthesia was perfected to the extent it is now.

"I had five teeth to be extracted. One of them was a pivot tooth. I tore things up pretty dreadfully during my anesthesia, and when I came to, the dentist was holding me around the neck, my husband was sitting across my feet, and my doctor was holding my arms across my chest. After this I developed a bronchitis and cough for which I was treated without results. One day, three months later, as I leaned way over, one-half of that pivot tooth came up into my mouth! It was evidently lodged down in my bronchial tubes some place. My doctor wanted me to tell the dentist, but I didn't and I guess he never did know; so you see we can suffer a lot and no one know the reason."

"MRS. J."

When there is an obscure cough that doesn't respond to treatment it is always a good idea to have an X-ray of the chest and throat. Sometimes foreign bodies—teeth, teeth, pins, etc.—are swallowed in childhood, and later, unknowingly, and they will be disclosed by the X-ray. There are doctors who specialize in extracting these articles through the mouth and windpipe (trachea), with marvelous instruments which have been perfected in late years, so no cutting is necessary.

Club Foot.

L. 27 years old, had infantile paralysis when she was 8, and as a result her feet are slightly clubbed. Is there any remedy?

Club foot (talipes) is a permanent twisting of the foot into a deformity, so that the patient has to walk on the toes, on the heels or sides of the feet, or certain combinations of these. The cause of club foot are congenital or acquired. The congenital forms may be due to arrest of development of some intra-uterine mechanical pressure from some reason. The acquired cases may come from infantile paralysis, such as L's, or other diseases affecting the nerve tissue, or from injury followed by contracting scars.

For the child born with this condition, treatment should be begun immediately, and in most instances it can be cured while the bones are still mouldable. Naturally the treatment must be given by a competent orthopedic surgeon. Manipulations and massage twice daily, and then at the age of three or four months, corrective plaster cases are applied. (Cochrane). The child has to be seen from time to time all through the growing period and any tendency to relax.

Older children, who have congenital club feet which have been neglected, and cases due to infantile paralysis, etc., also can be greatly helped. The treatment may mean an operation under anesthesia.

So do not be discouraged. L. There is no doubt you can be helped. Take your case to an orthopedic specialist. If you don't know of any in your locality, ring up the County Medical society of your city.

FIND CITY OF DEAD IN CALIF. DESERT

San Francisco, September 12.—(AP)

The Examiner said today that two men and a woman have arrived here with a story of having discovered a "city of the dead" in the California desert a week's automobile journey from San Francisco, adding that University of California scientists practically said the tale was incredible.

The newspaper said the self-styled discoverers are C. A. N. Howard, Mrs. Howard, and Robert Howard, a young woman, and that Howard claimed to have discovered the ruins by following a three-mile subterranean passage found while working a desert claim near the town of Mammouth, a town of about 300 persons of Mongolian type were reported seen, some seated as if they had been feasting when they died, some catastrophe, while others seemed to have been assisting at a human sacrifice, with a mummified victim, a young woman, and a child. The newspaper quoted Howard as saying he was partially overcome by gas while exploring the ruins, adding that he brought out with him some trinkets from those seen in the ruins.

MANY ARE SEIZED FOR RIVERA PLOT

St. Jean de Luz (from Madrid) Spanish Frontier, September 12.—(AP)—There is much excitement here today about the newest plot against the Primo de Rivera government in Spain.

Many appear to have been arrested, but no facts are available. Various rumors have it that these include A. Cambo, leader of the Catalan separatist party in Barcelona, and General A. Lerroux, of Madrid, leader of the liberal republicans. Warrants are said to have been issued for the arrest of Sanchez Giron, a former prime minister of Spain, in the event he reenters the country, and others of importance. All prisoners, it is said, are held incommunicado. The archbishop is reported to have been received in a convent in Terragona.

Newspaper correspondents tried to talk with Lerroux at his home in Madrid, but could not find him there. Rumor has it that the police have known of the plot for days, taking their action against the conspirators only when it appeared that they planned to use the anniversary of the birth of the Republic as a cover to power in Spain (September 13) as the date for their coup.

RICH MIAMI WOMAN SUFFERS FROM POISON

Miami, Fla., September 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Leroy R. Busch, wealthy Miami Beach matron whose marital difficulties have led to both civil and criminal suits against her husband, was in All-Ston hospital here today suffering from poison after an unfavorable verdict Tuesday in one of court actions she had brought against Mr. Busch.

She was admitted to the hospital Tuesday night when acquaintances said her condition was critical. Hospital attendants this morning, however, said her condition was not regarded as serious at this time.

Fears that Mrs. Busch might take her life as result of domestic troubles rushed into her room after hearing a pistol shot fired. Mrs. Busch then was found in highly nervous condition, but the bullet had lodged in the wall opposite her.

Mrs. Busch had charged her husband with poisoning her. She filed suit in Miami Beach County October 25, 1927. A jury in court of crimes found Busch not guilty late Tuesday after several hours of deliberation. She had been charged with poisoning her husband, but the jury found her innocent.

Pending in court is a suit started by Mrs. Busch early this year in which she is seeking to have a receiver appointed for her husband's property, on the grounds that everything he has purchased with her money.

In his suit she charges Busch married her in Atlantic City October 14, 1925, to get her money, as she was then a rich widow. After obtaining most of her holdings through various pretexts, she claims Busch had her declared insane. She was committed to Highland sanitarium, near Asheville, N. C., where she was admitted July 8, 1927, and remained months, then returned to Miami apparently normal.

"I have concert engagements that will take me over most of Europe. Mrs. Heifetz will return to the west coast to start work on a new picture."

Mrs. Flora Gillette, D. A. R. Vice President, Campaigns for Smith

St. Louis, September 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Flora M. Gillette, of Nashville, Tenn., vice president general of the Daughters of American Revolution and a director of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, has volunteered as a campaign speaker for Governor Alfred E. Smith, it was announced today at regional democratic headquarters here. She will address a gathering of women at Atlantic City and later will speak in Missouri, Oklahoma, Kentucky and Tennessee.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

Trader Displays His Treasures.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Trash to you, to me is treasure. If possession gives me pleasure. —Trader the Wood Rat.

As you all know, Trader the Wood Rat is a collector. If he couldn't be a collector, he couldn't be happy. It doesn't make a great deal of difference to Trader what he collects so long as he collects something. Like Black and Crow, he likes shiny things.

He had decided to move back to the sugar house where Whitefoot the Wood Mouse and Little Mrs. Whitefoot were living. And when Trader makes up his mind to do a thing he does it. So he wasted no time. Trader chose a dark corner underneath one end of the bunk in the sugar house. To this he began bringing sticks. He dragged them in through a hole in the ground where the wood-pile had been. This hole led out of doors. Trader likes a very big nest. It seemed to Whitefoot and Mrs. Whitefoot that Trader was bringing in all the dead sticks in the Green Forest. He was a hard worker was Trader. It was his nature to work hard. He believed that if people want things they must work for them.

When Trader had his new home arranged to suit him he was no less busy than before. He began bringing in his treasures. Whitefoot and Mrs. Whitefoot could simply sit and stare. To begin with he brought, one at a time, a good-sized pile of white pebbles.

"What under the sun does he want of those things?" whispered Mrs. Whitefoot. "It's too much for me," declared Whitefoot, examining the pile, while Trader was gone for another stone. "He can't be doing this. I don't know what he's got for."

A little later Whitefoot discovered that Trader had a lot of new treasures. These consisted of a green shell from the Laughing Brook and small bones which had been whitened by exposure to the weather. There was a lot of what you might call "trash." He glared over these treasures. He expected Whitefoot and Mrs. Whitefoot to be waiting and what a daughter thinks of her father. Her role this year will be the same.

"Of course on the trip I shall not do any speaking. Who would want to listen to me when they could listen to father, or even look at him?" she said to herself as she packed her trunk.

During her father's 1924 campaign she took charge of a special car that was decorated to resemble a huge teapot. During the campaign she had a scandal of the republican administration. She directed its movements and for a period of several weeks toured all sections of the state.

With Anna Roosevelt, daughter of Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Lin Day, daughter of Mrs. Caroline O'Day, vice chairman of the democratic state committee, the then Emily Smith helped to spread the doctrine of Governor Smith and his party. They picked up at various times Mrs. J. Borden Herriman, Mrs. Montgomery Hare and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, leading women democrats, who spoke to gatherings of women all over the state.

"None of the girls did any speaking," explained Mrs. Warner. "In the Le River campaign we were too young, and in the second one of us could do it."

Emily was married in 1926 and shortly after the wedding another gubernatorial campaign started. This time she was accompanied by her husband, Major Warner, superintendent of state police, as well as with her father, attending most of his important speeches.

Member of Party. She was a member of the eastern party that went to Hot Springs, Ark., August 20 this year for the official notification of Senator Joseph T. Robinson, vice presidential nominee.

At the Hot Springs along the way and at Hot Springs she was a guest at dinners, teas, and receptions given in honor of the nominee and on several occasions she was called upon to speak.

"They didn't want me really to say anything," she said, "all they wanted was to see some member of father's family. So I'd get up and say perhaps five or six words of thanks for the party. Several times different members of the party would write father that I had made a bully political speech, and he was tickled to death. I'm glad he doesn't hear what I say."

On the political aspect of her father's presidential campaign, Mrs. Warner declared she believed the women of the country would give him their support, just as the women of the state have always supported him for governor.

"I am convinced that when thinking women of the country learn of his record here in New York state, they will pick up at various times Mrs. J. Borden Herriman, Mrs. Montgomery Hare and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, leading women democrats, who spoke to gatherings of women all over the state."

'BIG BILL' TREASURER FIGHT FUND RETURN

Chicago, September 12.—(AP)—Mayor William Hale Thompson and County Treasurer George F. Harding have pooled their resources to carry on their fight against paying back to the city $1,700,000 alleged to have been taken out of the treasury by them and five others in a conspiracy to defraud.

The mayor and Mr. Harding today filed an appeal bond of $2,500,000, scheduled property, jointly, worth $2,600,000, to guarantee the bond. The appeal is from a decision by Judge Hugo Friend, who found them and the five others guilty of the conspiracy as charged by the Chicago Tribune on its suit against the seven instituted as a taxpayer.

In filing the appeal bond, the mayor and Mr. Harding forsook the five other defendants, including Michael P. Egan, president of the board of local improvements. They were given permission to file separately from the other five by Judge Friend after an agreement with the Tribune.

The mayor and the others were alleged to have paid the money out of the city treasury as expert fees for real estate men in the conspiracy.

SECOND RECALL ELECTION IS SET AT FT. MEYERS

Fort Myers, Fla., September 12.—(AP)—Action on petitions signed by 15 per cent of the voters of Fort Myers, the city commission today set October 2 for the second recall election within a month. On August 31 three of the five members of the commission faced recall and won out by narrow margins, one of them by one-third of a vote.

After failure to get a recount on a mandamus action, supporters of the recall circulated new petitions naming all five of the commissioners, including the mayor, who will go before the voters in the election called today.

This will be the third time A. B. Cutler, dean of the commission, has been recalled. He has been in the post two years of his four-year term. A majority of two-thirds is necessary to recall an officer.

KELLEY ALLEGES HE WAS 'FRAMED'

Los Angeles, September 12.—(AP)

More testimony about his love affair with Mrs. Myrtle Mellus was expected from Leo P. Kelley today as the morning court session was reserved for the youthful meat cutter to testify again in his own defense. Kelley is on trial for the alleged slaying of Mrs. Mellus during a drinking party in her fashionable home here.

On the witness stand for the first time yesterday Kelley told the story of his five-year clandestine romance with Mrs. Mellus. He answered a barrage of questions from Chief Prosecutor James H. Costello and as time for court adjournment neared shouted "I am being framed!"

Some of Kelley's testimony was stricken from the record.

The accused man charged that he was the victim of a frame-up engineered by Frank Mellus, husband of the slain woman, her maid and a police officer. Previously he admitted having given a false story to the police immediately after his capture saying he did so to "prevent a name being dragged through the mud."

Aside from the tale of liquor and parties, Kelley's testimony indirectly brought out a denial that he killed Mrs. Mellus but instead that they went to sleep after drinking liquor and that he was about to leave the home when Mrs. Mellus found her husband was returning home. Kelley said he hid in a closet then, where police found him.

Her first political speech will be at Cohasset.

"I admire him for his courage more than anything else in the world," declared Mrs. Guild in discussing her reasons for favoring Governor Smith. "Yes, for his courage in his stand for modification of prohibition. I don't know what he can do about it, but he registers the sentiment of a very large part of the country. I think he has made a wonderful governor of New York."

"I think, too, that if my husband were alive, the way things are now, he would agree with me. He was a staunch republican. But the republican party needs reforming."

Mrs. Guild was one of the organizers of the Women's Republican club of Boston, but resigned last winter. Her husband was once ambassador to Russia and long influential in republican state politics. He was a noted orator and toured for several republican presidential nominees.

Clear Weather Due To Remain Another Day

Fair weather will continue to please Atlantans today, according to the forecast of E. J. von Herrmann, the States meteorologist. Temperatures will remain about the same, ranging between 65 and 85 degrees. The thermometer registered 68 to 87 Wednesday, Mr. von Herrmann said.

While rain was reported all over the north, from Maine to the Mississippi valley, the cotton belt enjoyed fair weather, Mr. von Herrmann said. The weather man said that the entire summer has been one of very little temperature fluctuation, and that the thermometer has clung close to the normal or a trifle above all during the season.

The directors agreed that they would continue the present management of the holding corporation and subsidiaries in office, and that a future policy would be formulated under supervision of the board.

THE GUMPS—THE KNOCKOUT: CARR VS. AUSTIN

The Taming of Elizabeth

By WINIFRED BOGGS

INSTALLMENT LXIV.
A STRANGE STORY.

"My brother, Cyril, certainly fancied himself in love with Angela, though there was a girl he had cared for and hoped eventually to marry. Well, Angela married him; he fell half to her and half to the lure of art study in Paris. He was weak, perhaps, and very sensitive. Angela likes her victims to be possessed of high sensibilities; they give out more. Off they went to Paris, but almost at once they were back again. Angela found out that his art would take him away from her, absorb him as she wished to absorb him. He must not be out of her sight for five minutes, must not give thought to anything or anybody else in the world. He was here; her thing. To our dismay she bought Mont Grange, where she kept him without money and shut away from his friends and all social life. Even I was not allowed to see him. Yet, mind you, in a way she loved him, loved him to distraction, lived in the glow of his radiant and he was a shadow of his former self and it was then I realized that she was one of the world's vampires, and that my unhappy brother was being slowly devoured; his essence, story and her own veins. By chance he met the other girl, realized what he had lost and went home and . . . had an accident with his revolver. Angela was nearly out of her mind with grief; she grew pale, and old, a changed woman. Then her chance a young girl in the neighborhood wanted to earn her living and went to her as companion. My sister-in-law grew young again, the girl lost vitality and health, and others succeeded her, and so it has gone on ever since. She realizes that without youth she can't survive, and she will go to any length to keep it. She believes she is being kind to the girl, giving her a luxurious home, a good salary and her companionship, being herself so gay and bright. She keeps them till she has sucked the last ounce out of them. I am glad that pretty young girl did not wait for that."

The two men came thoughtfully into the street, Mark was the first to speak:

"So we prey on each other still?" he said. "Yet we can do nothing, nobody can ever do anything. She is so kind to her companions—giving them everything they do not want. That unfortunate devil Vesington will have to keep up the supply or go under himself."

"He will never send her another," said Stephen curtly. "I am going to see to that. I will find him a job when he's cured, and anyway he must get his aunt's big fortune in the end. I owe him something, he did try to save Elizabeth. I only tried to keep her in the cage."

"He's a pretty bad case, I'm afraid," was all Mark said.

It may be said here that Stephen succeeded with Julian; it was not easy and it took time, but in the end he won.

Mark left Stephen at the first corner, knew he was hurrying off to Elizabeth and could guess the rest. "So that is that," he said to himself and sighed a little.

The young Elizabeth would join the ranks of all the other girls he had loved and lost, and it was best so, he would not have it different, but he told himself he felt her going most of them all. "Things are never the same again, we're not the same," he thought. "Life has pushed us on to the next corner."

As a lover Stephen was neither successful nor amusing, possibly because he was too much in love, too deeply in earnest, to be either. It seemed to him that every day Elizabeth grew more adorable—and more elusive. He had counted on having her almost entirely to himself, instead of which he had to share her with others. There was Mark for one, that old fool Keene, dozens of young men who had seemingly dropped out of the blue; so that the desired object was fenced round on every side.

It was partly Mark's doing; he surmised that Elizabeth was not yet free of her painful experience, might not ever be quite free, for the thing had bitten deep, and that she must have no time for brooding and be too tired with enjoyment at night to do anything but sleep. Consequently he insisted she should look up old friends, accept their invitations, and himself took her "on his rounds," as he expressed it, and introduced many gay people to her. So that, what with one thing and another, Elizabeth was having the time of her life.

Her unconsciousness of the role Stephen sought to play was, of course, assumed. She knew all about Stephen and his wishes, but she was no great hurry now that the thing desired was in her reach; she felt she wanted to be gay and futile a little longer; it might be for the last time, for once she was taken in, it would be a case of putting away childish things, and becoming a serious young person. Also it was rather fun teasing serious Stephen. She got a rise out of him every time.

The words of a young married woman came back to her. "I have everything," she had said, "the man I love, a fine son, enough money . . . it's worth it, and yet—She had sighed. "I was in too great a hurry to get married. I missed all the time before, never realized that that is the thing to make the most of." Consequently the young Elizabeth was out to make the most of her "time before." "People don't run after busses once they've caught them," she murmured to herself. "He can run a little bit longer—he's still got some breath left." (By breath, she meant patience.)

So she continued to be very innocent and very obtuse. "It's great fun living on nothing," she told her guardian, "and very easy. That twenty-five pounds will last me ages at this rate. I just pay fifteen shillings a week for my room and make myself a cup of tea on the gas ring. All the rest of the time I knock up against people I know at meal times, and it always works."

In other words, you accept the invitations to lunch and dine of every pushing young pup," began Stephen jealously.

POEMS THAT LIVE.

MY PRAYER

GREAT God, I ask thee for no meaner pelf
Than that I may not disappoint myself;
That in my action I may soar as high
As I can now discern with this clear eye,
And next in value, which thy kindness lends,
That I may greatly disappoint my friends,
How'er they think or hope that it may be,
They may not dream how thou'st distinguished me.

That my weak hand may equal my firm faith,
And my life practice more than my tongue saith;
That my low conduct may not show,
Nor my relenting lines,
That I thy purpose did not know,
Or overrated thy designs.
—Henry D. Thoreau (1817-1862)

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

IN 1856, THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT PURCHASED THE WESTERN PART OF INDIAN TERRITORY, KNOWN AS OKLAHOMA ("BEAUTIFUL LAND"), FROM ITS INDIAN OWNERS. THE INDIANS PARTED WITH THE REGION ON CONDITION THAT NO WHITE SETTLEMENTS SHOULD BE MADE IN IT. BUT IN 1889 THE GOVERNMENT ACQUIRED FULL RIGHT TO THE TERRITORY AND PROPOSED TO OPEN IT TO SETTLEMENT.

The Opening of Oklahoma.

APRIL 22, 1889, WAS THE DAY APPOINTED FOR THROWING OKLAHOMA TERRITORY OPEN TO THE PUBLIC. LONG BEFORE THAT TIME AN ARMY OF 50,000 PIONEERS AND "BOOMERS" HAD COLLECTED ON THE BORDER, TO BE READY FOR THE MOMENT WHEN THEY COULD CROSS THE LINE AND CLAIM THE BEST LOCATIONS FOR FARMS AND SETTLEMENTS.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

AT NOON, THE SIGNAL WAS GIVEN AND THE EAGER HORDE SWARMED OVER THE BORDER. EACH "BOOMER" TRYING TO OUTSTRIP THE OTHER BEFORE SUNDOWN SEVERAL "CITIES" HAD BEEN STAKED OUT.

OKLAHOMA WAS FOUND TO BE VERY RICH IN PETROLEUM AND SOON A BRISTLING FOREST OF TOWERING OIL DERRICKS ROSE ON EVERY HAND. THE TERRITORY GREW RAPIDLY, AND IN 1907, TOGETHER WITH INDIAN TERRITORY, IT WAS ADMITTED TO THE UNION AS THE STATE OF OKLAHOMA.

TOMORROW—THE SANDAN INCIDENT (Part One).

Keith's Georgia.

It is interesting to note that one of the very few who won contracts after attending the Paramount Artists' Training school is an Atlanta girl and is playing this week at Keith's Georgia in the Paramount picture "Just Married." She is Ivy Harris who went to the school with Buddy Rogers and James Hall, also contract winners of the school. The girl show is the stage attraction appearing at the Georgia on the same program with "Just Married."

Loew's Capitol.

Combining a vaudeville bill of unusual excellence with a feature picture that is gay and light, Loew's Capitol theater this week is offering an exceptionally strong program. The vaudeville bill is headed by Freddie Rich and his Hotel Astor orchestra with Joe Rome and Lou Grut, two of the best comedians ever seen in Atlanta, as an added attraction. The picture is "The Cardboard Lover."

Loew's Grand.

The super picture of film and "Ben-Hur," produced at a cost of $4,000,000 and with 15,000 people in the cast, is being offered at Loew's Grand for the first time in Atlanta at the new scale of popular prices adopted at this theater. This classic of the screen is based on Gen. Lew Wallace's famous novel with Ramon Novarro, May McAvoy and Francis X. Bushman in leading roles.

Howard.

First National first sound picture entitled "Lilac Time" is the headline feature that is drawing capacity to the Howard theater this week. Starring in this romantic spectacle of aviation and love are Gary Cooper and Colleen Moore. The stage entrance for the week is the Paramount picture "Just Married."

Metropolitan.

Winnie Lightner, star on this week's Vitaphone program at the Metropolitan, is a "personality girl" in reality. Not only her personality but her beauty have gained for her a place in the folios, and she is seen and heard in a number of popular song hits of high entertainment value. The first Photophone Talking picture, "The Perfect Crime," starring Olive Brook and Irene Rich, is the feature attraction.

Rialto.

"The Sawdust Paradise," one of the most entertaining stories brought to the silver sheet this season, is playing at the Rialto theater this week to large audiences. Esther Ralston, beautiful blonde star, is featured, supported by Hobart Bosworth and Reed Howes. On the big-time Vitaphone vaudeville bill this week is Bert Swor, noted blackface comic, who appears in a negro preacher dialog; the famous "Foxy" family in a burlesque novelty; and a variety of other acts.

Cameo.

"Half a Bride," which shows at the Cameo today, features Esther Ralston and George Cooper. Patience Winslow and Captain Edmunds are washed ashore on a deserted island and during the week they follow Patience learns the emptiness of her former life as a society debutante, and learns to love her fellow castaway.

Alamo No. 2.

"Two Girls Wanted," the film version of the Broadway success, will appear at the Alamo No. 2 theater today. This is Janet Gaynor's first starring vehicle, and was selected for her especially by Alfred E. Green, the director, who saw the play while in New York.

Tudor.

He's just a boy, this Buzz Barton in "The Pint Kid," at the Tudor theater today, but he laughs to scorn the big-fisted, hard-drinking, gun-toting heroes of the old-time thriller and proves that grit and wit are the mightiest weapons of all.

Empire.

"One Exciting Night," produced under the direction of Dr. W. Griffith, is today's screen feature at the new Empire theater, corner of Georgia avenue and Crew street. This is a really exciting picture, and the Griffith magic touch in the scenic effects can be easily recognized.
